TWO WOMEN HURT IN FIGHT AT MINE

State Police Claim They Fired in Self-Defense, While Miners Say They Were Unarmed.

BY H. O. THOMPSON.
Denver, Colo., November 21.—(United News.)—Airmen, armored tanks and machine guns gave the coal districts of northern Colorado a war-like appearance tonight as state troops moved into the Columbine mine section to prevent further bloodshed in the I. W. W. coal miners' strike.

As 250 state militiamen marched into Erie under full war equipment, the casualty list of the strike's first serious outbreak stood at five dead and more than 60 wounded.

Rene Jacques, 26, died of abdominal wounds in the Longmont hospital tonight. Nick Spandness and John Eastens died on the battleground and Jerry Davis, 24, died during the afternoon at Longmont. George Kovich, 25, of Erie, was shot through the stomach and died tonight in the Longmont hospital.

Twenty-two state officers were injured in the violent rioting which came to an end after the guards had poured machine gun bullets into an attacking band of 600 strike pickets. Twenty-three wounded strikers, including two women, were given hospital treatment and more than a score were injured less seriously.

The outbreaks of mob violence came suddenly. Six hundred strikers, attempting to picket the Columbine mine—the only northern Colorado mine that has been operated since the walkout five weeks ago—were met by machine gun fire from the squad of officers stationed there to guard the holdings.

COAL CONSPIRACY TO HURT WORKERS IN MINES CHARGED

New York Central and Pennsylvania Combined With Operators, Coolidge Is Told.

BY CECIL OWEN.
Washington, November 21.—(United News.)—Charges that a conspiracy exists between two of the major railroads of the country and soft-coal operators to depress prices and break the union wage scale were laid before President Coolidge today by representatives of organized labor.

A delegation led by William Green, president of the A. F. of L., and John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, made this charge in the course of presenting to the president their side of the industrial war that has demoralized bituminous coal production for the past seven months.

As the largest single consumer of soft coal, the railroads have much to do with fixing the price, Green said. He said if a fair price could be maintained, coal operators would be able to pay fair wages in proportion.

N. Y. Central and Penn.

"We allege a conspiracy between the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads, and the soft-coal operators, to beat down the price of coal and degrade living conditions in mining districts," Lewis declared.

"The Pennsylvania," he said, "is hauling West Virginia coal into Indiana at a higher cost than they could haul coal in Indiana. They are presently out to crush the miners so they won't have to buy coal produced at an American wage scale. We have ample facts to back up this charge."

Coolidge, it was said at the white house, suggested that the labor men take their conspiracy charge to the interstate commerce commission.

Conference Urged.

After describing conditions in Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the districts most seriously affected by the disturbance, the labor men urged the president to call a conference of miners and operators.

"We believe the president will be able, by calling a conference, to settle the differences between miners and operators and end the present situation," Green said, adding, "there are 150,000 miners on strike, with 600,000 dependents, all of whom are virtually destitute."

While not committing himself definitely, Coolidge assured the delegation that he would discuss with the department of labor the question of a conference, Green said.

Alleged improper use of the injunction process was called to Coolidge's attention by Green and Lewis. A recent Pennsylvania injunction, they said, forbade miners even attending church. Hardships in the coal fields where many miners' families have been evicted from their homes were pictured and the necessity of quick action was urged upon the president.

Proposals Opposed.

Lewis said the president told them on several occasions urged operators and the advisers of giving the executives power to interfere in coal disputes, but that his proposals had been opposed by both miners and operators.

"I told him the reason the miners objected to federal legislation was because fundamental human relations would be ignored," Lewis said. "The government could intervene, he said, only in case of a fuel shortage, which would leave untouched most of the serious problems in the industry owing to the large surplus of both men and mines. Although thousands of miners have been on strike or locked out for seven months, Lewis said, there is at present no pronounced shortage of bituminous coal."

At the conclusion of the conference, Lewis was asked whether he thought the president's attitude was one of sympathy for the miners.

"Far be it from me," he replied, "to undertake to say whether the president was sympathetic."

Counsel for Promoter Charges Jack and His Lawyers With Deliberately 'Framing' Court.

TEX RICKARD NEAR COURTROOM FIGHT

New Yorker Resents Remark by Lawyer That He Had Said That He Had 'Suit in Bag.'

Newark, N. J., November 21.—(UP.)—One of a pair of Jacks called the other a knave tonight and the ensuing uproar completely obliterated, at least for the time being, the $233,333.33 damage suit against Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, by Jack Kearns, his erstwhile manager, for breach of contract.

After counsel for Kearns had charged Dempsey and his lawyers with deliberately "framing" the court, and Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, with having boasted that he had the case "in the bag," both sides agreed to end the trial in a "voluntary non-suit," a polite form of mistrial carrying no connotations of guilt.

Counsel for Kearns announced the case would be brought to trial again as soon as possible, but Dempsey's lawyers intimated that legal obstacles would be found in the path of such action and checked that Kearns had unintentionally got himself "up said creek without a paddle" and would have a hard time getting back into the legal stream.

Dramatic Court Scene.

Today's session of the trial was brief but it was one of the most dramatic court scenes of the year. It began late, the judge being delayed long once under way it sizzled with speed. It was marked by shouts, threats, taunts, tears and tirades. Several times physical conflict was narrowly averted.

The court was thrown into an uproar by George L. (Tex) Rickard, who charged the remaining incomplete counsel that the promoter had boasted having the case "in the bag," that he

OGLETHORPE FUND REACHES $98,000; WORKERS NEEDED

Enthusiasm Runs High as Volunteers Make First Reports in Campaign for $500,000 Endowment.

First official reports of drive workers Monday noon pushed total subscriptions up to $98,000 in the Oglethorpe university endowment fund campaign, for $500,000, with the faculty committee of five members showing the largest amount of money raised to date.

The luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock at the Wincoff hotel was characterized by much spirit and enthusiasm, and reports made raised the feeling in the campaign to a new high mark that augurs well for the complete success of the drive, it is pointed out.

While the faculty committee holds the lead in money raised for the entire campaign, it is announced that the citizens' committee is rapidly pulling up, and great things are expected of this body. The greatest present need in the citizens' committee is more workers, and officials of the campaign urge every Atlantian who is willing to serve the cause of Oglethorpe, education and the city itself, to enroll in the drive.

$85,000 on Saturday.

Saturday noon reports showed a total of $85,000 subscribed and at the Monday meeting the directors' committee, led by Robert H. Jones, chairman, made the best report of funds collected since the Saturday announcement.

Only the organization of the citizens' committee remains incomplete. It is planned to make a complete military organization of this committee, with colonels, majors, captains, lieutenants and privates to make an intensive drive to help the campaign "over the top."

The next official report will be made at the luncheon meeting today at 12:30 o'clock at the Wincoff hotel.

Miss Lona Rogers, 30, of Dublin, Held in Connection With the Death of Prominent Man.

UNREQUITED LOVE SEEN AS MOTIVE

Dainty Glove and Shoe Heel Print Only Clues Found at Body of Victim Near His Home.

Wrightsville, Ga., November 21.—(UP.)—Miss Lona Rogers, 30, was taken into custody tonight at her home in Dublin, 19 miles from here and held for investigation in connection with the slaying of Fred Daley, 36, who was found shot to death in front of his home at 6:30 o'clock this morning by passers-by on their way to work.

The woman was arrested by Sheriff L. F. Watson, Laurens county, following an all-day investigation conducted by the two officers with a dainty glove and shoe heel print, as the only clues to work on.

The officers followed the tracks of the high heel shoes for a distance of 14 miles besides the railroad tracks between Dublin and Wrightsville.

Miss Rogers and Daley had been close friends for a number of years, officers said. According to Sheriff Watson, while no formal charge has been preferred against the woman, sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant holding her for further investigation, he said. Miss Rogers refused to make any statement other than an emphatic denial of knowing anything about Daley's death.

According to Sheriff Watson the officers are working on the theory of unrequited love as the motive for the slaying. Officers also advance the theory that whoever killed Daley had been waiting in hiding near his home for his return to accomplish the deed. The slaying is believed to have occurred around 2 o'clock a. m., by doctors who made an examination of the body. A pistol shot was heard around that time by neighbors in the vicinity of Daley's home but no investigation was made at that time.

The body when found was laying face downward on the right hand side of Daley's automobile as if the man had just stepped out of the car. The keys he used in locking his coupe were in his hand.

One Shot Fired.

Only one shot was fired and struck the man above the heart. His death was instant, according to the doctors. That the bullet was fired at close range is evidenced by the fact of the powder burns about the face and clothing of the slain man. The theory of robbery is eliminated by the reason the man's money and valuables were left intact.

At the coroner's inquest which was held this afternoon revealed that Daley had visited Miss Lillie Belle Williams, a young woman of Manning near here, at her home last night leaving her to return to his own home. Miss Williams testified that he left her home about 1 o'clock. An unidentified witness also testified of seeing a woman come from the general direction of where Daley was found shortly after the pistol report was heard. Police refuse to say whether or not the witness recognized the woman. The inquest will be reconvened at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Daley was a member of a family prominently identified in this section for years. He was the son of the late Judge A. F. Daley, former president of the Wrightsville and Tennille railroad, and a nephew of former Congressman William Schley Howard. At the time of his death he was connected with the Wrightsville Hardware company.

House Body Votes for $250,000,000 Reduction, Exceeding Administration Program.

STORMY SESSION PRECEDES ACTION

Representative Garner Predicts That Cut Will Be Much Larger When Finally Passed.

Washington, November 21.—(UP.)—Overriding the treasury proposal to limit tax reduction to $225,000,000 the house today voted to set the maximum at $250,000,000 in framing a revenue bill.

It likewise turned thumbs down on Secretary Mellon's recommendations for repeal of the federal inheritance tax and a downward revision of surtax rates on incomes falling within the intermediate brackets.

The committee decided to confine prospective tax cuts primarily to reduction of the levy on corporation incomes and either reduction or repeal of those on admission tickets, club dues and automobile sales. Determination of what changes would be made regarding these taxes was deferred.

Stormy Session Held.

Adoption of the motion to set $250,000,000 as the maximum cut came near the close of a stormy session and after a number of other proposals had been cast aside.

At the outset the democratic membership lost to authorize a reduction of $200,000,000. This was rejected on a strictly party vote.

Next, a motion to fix the maximum at $275,000,000 was defeated on a ballot that found one republican voting with the minority.

Then on a vote, described by one member as overwhelming, the committee approved the $250,000,000 total.

Tax Repeat Defeated.

The committee sidetracked the proposal to repeal the inheritance levy by a 17 to 6 vote, and disappeared.

METHODISTS BEGIN ASSEMBLING HERE FOR ANNUAL MEET

700 Ministers, Laymen Expected To Be on Hand When Conference Opens Wednesday Morning.

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.
Preliminary activities connected with the annual session of the North Georgia Methodist conference will get under way today, when various examining committees and conference boards assemble at Wesley Memorial church to formulate reports to be submitted later in the week. Bishop W. B. Beauchamp is scheduled, also, to have a pre-conference meeting with his cabinet of twelve presiding elders for the purpose of giving attention to the preachers' appointments for the coming year. The entire membership of the conference is to meet for the first time this year at the anniversary of the Widows and Orphans Aid association at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

A large number of conference members connected with the boards that meet today reached the city Monday, and were registered at several downtown hotels last night. During today several hundred more will arrive, to be followed by still larger numbers early Wednesday morning, until some 700 ministers and laymen will be present when the conference formally begins the annual sitting at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The Widows and Orphans Aid association, which meets at 7:30 o'clock this evening, is a fraternal group in the conference membership, whose purpose is to give immediate help to the family of a conference member who may pass away during the year. Nearly all the ministers belong to the association, of which Rev. A. J. Sears, of Norcross, is president, and Dr. W. T. Hume, of Atlanta, secretary.

During this year three ministers have died, and in each instance help has been given their families by the association. Members desire to assist themselves, as the statement declares, to plan the death of General Obregon. The conspirators, who had been kept in this house for ten days preceding the attempt. In another place the police assert they found 7,000 cartridges belonging to Vilchis, which, the statement declares, he confessed he intended to ship to Catholic rebels in Jalisco.

In another house, the statement continues, where lived the priest Pro Juarez, were found by the police four bombs and also tools and material for the construction of bombs. It was in this place that the bombs with which Obregon's life was attempted were made.

The automobile used by the assassins had been kept in this house for ten days preceding the attempt. In another place the police assert they found 7,000 cartridges belonging to Vilchis, which, the statement declares, he confessed he intended to ship to Catholic rebels in Jalisco.

Three Members of League for Defense of Religious Liberty Are Jailed in Mexico City.

BOMBS AND ARMS DECLARED FOUND

While Two Other Men, Now Dead, Carried Out Plot, Prisoners Are Declared Real Leaders.

Mexico City, November 21.—(UP.)—General Roberto Cruz, chief of police, issued an official signed statement tonight, declaring that three prominent members of the League for the Defense of Religious Liberty—the organization which is opposed to the new religious law—were the actual and intellectual leaders in the recent plot to assassinate General Obregon, and that they have been arrested and have confessed their guilt.

The names of the men are: Luis Serrano Vilchis, an engineer employed by the Mexican Light and Power company; Miguel Augustin, Pro Juarez, a Catholic priest, and his brother, Humberto Juarez.

Assumes Responsibility.

General Cruz, in his statement, says that Vilchis has assumed entire responsibility for the plot to assassinate General Obregon, but the police believe that this was done in an effort to shield his accomplices.

Vilchis, the statement continues, also confessed that he continually has been shipping arms and ammunition to Catholic rebels in the states of Jalisco and Zacatecas. Vilchis, the priest Pro Juarez and the priest's brother, Humberto Juarez, have been placed in jail, pending further investigation.

The arrests came after confessions by Juan Tirado and Lamberto Ruiz, two of the men who were shot by Obregon's companions after they had attempted to assassinate the general. Both of these men have since died. The police, on information gleaned from the confessions, found the house where, they allege, the three leaders had been kept in this house for ten days preceding the attempt. In another place the police assert they found 7,000 cartridges belonging to Vilchis, which, the statement declares, he confessed he intended to ship to Catholic rebels in Jalisco.

REMUS IS UNABLE TO OUTLINE CASE

Associate Takes His Place at Opening of Trial; State Paints Killing as Conspiracy.

BY PAUL J. WHITE.
Cincinnati, November 21.—(United News.)—George Remus developed a cold, lost the evidence in his rich voice and thus was forced to turn over to another counsel today the task of painting the verbal picture of himself as the wronged husband who shot and killed an erring wife.

For Remus today had been promising to make the opening statement in his own defense before the jury that will try him on the charge of murdering his "beautiful Imogene."

But when he appeared in court today he found he had become hoarse, and although he sucked lemons and medical lozenges he had not regained his power of vehement speech by the time Walter K. Sibbald, assistant prosecutor, had completed an outline of the state's case.

Sibbald, tall, bespectacled, scholarly and grave, depicted Remus as a

THIRD OF TOWER FUGITIVES CAUGHT

With Capture of W. F. Dempsey Near Buckhead, Only Seven of Escaped Prisoners at Large

With the recapture early Monday night of William F. Dempsey, 18, of Chamblee, Ga., under $1,000 bond on person charges, only seven of the ten prisoners who escaped from the Fulton county tower early Saturday night remain at large. Deputy Sheriffs, county police and city detectives have redoubled their efforts to capture the others. Dempsey was caught near Buckhead by Captain John Oliver.

Two of the fugitives were captured Monday morning near Adamsville and lodged in solitary confinement, while officers spread their dragnet over the city and surrounding country with the hope of apprehending the eight others, participating in the break before the latter can get too great a distance between themselves and the county jail.

John Adams, 21, of 215 Georgia avenue, under sentence of two to five years, and C. Van Arner, 36, of Orlando, Fla., held for the federal government on automobile theft charges, were retaken when deputy sheriffs surprised them early Monday at the home of Adams' father, a mile and a half below Adamsville.

Roy McCoy, 31, a federal prisoner being held under the Harrison narcotics act for government authorities, the last man to leave the prison wall, was captured by the deputy sheriff James D. Bazemore, in charge of the tower, and Deputy R. T. Tolbert, inside keeper, to the fourth floor corridor where 40 other prisoners might have taken advantage of the opening, failed to make good his escape being caught at last night moment as he was climbing over the outside pile, made use of by the ten who escaped in getting over the prison wall.

A drop of 50 feet from the basement to the ground level was managed by the fugitives by linking together chains, piled loose from 15 bunks. "A mystery which the jailers are seeking to solve is the method by which the jail breakers obtained a hackway to sever the window bars. It is believed the noise of sawing the bars was drowned by singing of some 175 prisoners, the plotters choosing the two hours of religious services to saw the bars. The escape took place about 8 o'clock Sunday night, just before the prisoners were locked in for the night. Discovery of the break was made by a prisoner on the first floor, who gave the alarm when he saw one of the men fleeing over the coal pile. Speedy action on the part of the jailer is believed to be responsible for the prevention of more men gaining their liberty."

DUNNING RESIGNS FROM GAME BOARD

Former Chairman Fears Adverse Decision in Savannah Case Would Affect Other Citizens.

M. O. Dunning, who resigned Saturday as chairman of the state board of game and fish, but retained membership on that body, Monday tendered his resignation as a member of the board to Governor L. G. Hardman. In resigning as a member Mr. Dunning told the governor that he feared that an adverse decision in quo warranto proceedings brought in Savannah to remove him from his board would affect many other prominent Georgia citizens who now hold two offices in the state, one of which is without compensation.

Mr. Dunning is collector of the port of Savannah, a federal office, and the quo warranto proceedings brought against him recently to oust him as a member of the state board of game and fish contended that he was not entitled by law to hold both these positions.

After the move to oust him from

Besieged Captain Signs Pact of Peace With Hotel

ENJOYS FIRST REAL MEAL IN 17 DAYS

New York, November 21.—(UP.)—Captain A. Graham Miles signed an armistice with the management of the Ritz Tower apartment tonight and enjoyed his first square meal since he began his self-imposed imprisonment in his rooms 17 days ago.

What Captain Miles actually signed was a check covering $100 of the debt the apartment hotel management claims he owes. Since November 5, Captain Miles has remained within his apartment, asserting that the management was only waiting for him to leave it for a moment to seize the opportunity to lock him out permanently.

No sooner had the check been delivered than the hotel service which was cut off when the captain began his "siege," was restored. The telephone worked again, barbers and manicurists answered his ring and a waiter hovered at his shoulder awaiting his order for a last dinner.

SCHOOL WIRING BID IS AGAIN REJECTED

Council Approves, Subject to Reconsideration, Purchase of Negro Property on Central.

Approval, subject to reconsideration, of a measure designed to authorize purchase of the property of the Central Avenue Methodist church, a negro institution, by a vote of 13 to 9, rejection, for the second time within the past month, of the bid of the Walker Electric company for electrical work on the first five school projects; authorization of letting the general contract for reconstruction of the Ashby school, and transaction of routine business featured the regular session of city council Monday afternoon.

Failure to complete consideration of several important papers caused the council to adjourn until 3 o'clock this afternoon, when they will be passed upon.

The Central avenue church property is located at Central avenue and Hunter streets, and about 35 feet must be used for the construction of the Central avenue viaduct. Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, was author and sponsor of the measure looking towards the purchase of the entire property for $80,000, thus eliminating the negro church in that section.

Legal Question Raised.

A long drawn out debate followed introduction of the paper, and technicality was raised as to whether expenditure of viaduct bond money for purchase of the tract would be legal. The author withdrew the paper and amended it so that the money should come from the $400,000 which it is expected the Georgia Power company will make towards erection of the bridges.

Opponents of the proposal to purchase the strip attacked the amended paper on the ground that it was illegal, but Mayor Pro Tem W. Guy Dobbs ruled that it was before the house. An effort to appeal from the decision of the chair was lost by a vote of 17 to 12.

The vote then was taken on the paper, resulting in its passage 13 for and 9 against. Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, served notice of reconsideration, and was joined in his action by his colleague, Dr. J. C. Vaughan, of the fourth, and

Whitehead Sued by Wife For Divorce

Mate of Wealthy Atlantian, Claiming Cruelty, Asks Half of Estate.

Divorce and permanent alimony amounting to one-half of her husband's estate were asked Monday in a petition for total divorce filed in Fulton superior court by Mrs. Julia M. Whitehead against Conkey P. Whitehead.

The petition also asks that the defendant be restrained from interfering in any way with plaintiff's possession of the beautiful home on Pace's Ferry road and that he be enjoined from disposing of any of his property or in any way altering or changing the status of his estate while the divorce suit is pending.

The suit was filed by Attorneys Reuben and Lowry Arnold and B. P. Gambrell in behalf of Mrs. Whitehead.

On April 22, 1922, the plaintiff and defendant were married and lived together until June, 1927, at which time the plaintiff was forced to separate from the defendant because of cruel treatment and drunken orgies, the petition avers.

"Said defendant was guilty of cruel treatment toward plaintiff, and said cruelty was brought about by said defendant's conduct."

"For several years prior to said separation, defendant was guilty of conduct which caused plaintiff great embarrassment and mental pain. He drank intoxicating liquors to excess and frequently engaged in drunken orgies in company with other male friends and women of disreputable character. Frequently, when indulging in such drunken orgies, he would bring his friends and women of bad character out to his residence, at times when plaintiff was at home and frequently when she was away, to her great humiliation and embarrassment. The frequency of these occurrences increased toward the time of the separation, and defendant's conduct became so unbearable that plaintiff was no longer able to live with him without fear of injury to her health. Her nervous system was affected and she is now suffering on account of said conduct."

In an exhibit attached to the petition, Mrs. Whitehead claims that her husband's income is about $175,000 per year and that he owned one-third of the capital stock of the Whitehead Realty company; one-third of one-half of the capital stock of the Coca-Cola Bottling company; the home on Pace's Ferry road, a building on West Peachtree street, a lot in Palm Beach, Fla., and several other plots of land.

THREE ARE KILLED AS TORNADO HITS SPANISH PROVINCES

Seville, Spain, November 21.—(United News.)—Three persons were killed, the lightning plants of several towns in the province of Cordoba were destroyed and thousands of dollars of farm crops were damaged by a tornado which swept through two provinces today. The dead were a father, mother and son, who were caught when their house collapsed. The tornado hit the provinces of Andalusia and Cordoba while gales of hurricane force caused great damage in Huelva and San Lucar. At Alcantara the residents thought an earthquake had struck the town.

100 ARE PLUNGED INTO SPANISH RIVER AS BRIDGE BREAKS

HAWES EXPLAINS FLOOD AID PLAN

Washington, November 21.—(AP)—An exposition of the "Missouri Plan" for flood control legislation, which would create a new governmental agency and set up a billion dollar fund to handle the problem, was made before the house flood control committee today by Senator Hawes, democrat of Missouri. The senator contemplates introducing a bill along this line in the new congress.

The governors of Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, the three states which bore the brunt of the Mississippi flood, will outline their views on a national control plan tomorrow.

Describing his plan, Senator Hawes said he favored the placing of flood control completely under the supervision of the federal government and the payment of all costs through a billion dollar bond issue which would be expended at the rate of $100,000,000 a year.

In order not to retard tax reduction and farm relief, he said his bill would call for liquidation of the bonds over a 50 year period. The issue would be effected under the liberty loan act. The proposed commission, he said, would be comprised of five members including two farmers, one engineer, one engineer and one civilian of national reputation for executive ability. Besides flood control, he added, his plan called for development of bird, animal and fish conservation and promotion of reforestation.

Chairman Reid, of Illinois, and Representatives Wilson, of Louisiana, and Whittington, of Mississippi, demurred, questioning Senator Hawes closely on his views as to what provision in the constitution would authorize the federal government to take charge of the task. The senator expressed the belief that the interstate commerce power granted the authority. Chairman Reid and Mr. Whittington viewed the national welfare clause as making federal control legal.

Chairman Reid announced that the committee would continue its hearings until the Christmas recess if necessary. He said the committee would receive the army engineers' report when congress meets and that he plans to deliver a speech in the house on the opening day of the session outlining the committee's work.

Nicaragua Guard To Be Commanded By U.S. Officers

Washington, November 21.—(AP)—Reorganization of the Nicaraguan National Guard under command of American officers was provided for in the agreement, negotiated by Henry L. Stimson as President Coolidge's personal representative, which terminated the civil war in that country. Pending reorganization of the national guard under American command, the force of marines in Nicaragua was augmented to insure an adequate police force.

Presumably the organization of the national guard of constabulary on the basis outlined in the agreement has reached a point where it can begin to take over the police duty of the country until the election is held next year and the question of maintaining order can be surrendered to the president elected at that time.

There is no indication, however, that the force of American marines in Nicaragua will be substantially reduced for some time and it is virtually certain that a considerable number of marines will be retained there to back up the national guard until after the election.

Reorganization of the national guard has been moving slowly. Washington officials explained, because of difficulties of the Nicaraguan government in financing the work. Possibilities of a loan by American banking interests to the Nicaraguan government to cover this and other expenditures have been under consideration. The request of both political factions in Nicaragua, has undertaken a financial and economic survey in that country to determine its needs.

Buenos Aires-Paris Air Mail Work Is Begun

Buenos Aires, November 21.—(United News.)—Experiments envisaging the linking by airplane and steamer of South America with the European continent will begin Tuesday. The first of the year's regular plane-steamer mail service between Buenos Aires and Paris, a distance of 6,000 miles, will be started.

The trip will take only one and a half days, as compared with the present time of 19 days.

A plane owned by the French Latecoere company will fly off for Rio de Janeiro Tuesday, transferring its load of mail to another machine which will complete the flight to Natal, Brazil. Under the plan, fast steamers will take the mail to Cape Verde, just south of Saint Louis, Senegalese Africa, whence planes will pick up the mail and deliver it to Paris.

The entire Latecoere route from Natal to Buenos Aires at the same time. The entire Latecoere route from Buenos Aires to Paris is the one which was blazed recently by the French aviators Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Le Brix.

The Latecoere company already has contracted for the round-trip service, to begin the first week in January. Eventually, the terms of the American section will be Fernando Noronha, an island off the Brazilian coast.

WORLD LEPROSY EXTERMINATION IN DECADE SEEN

New York, November 21.—(AP)—Halt of the world's 2,000,000 lepers may be headed in ten years and leprosy may be practically wiped out in the next generation, William Danner, secretary of the American Mission to Lepers, told a New York Presbyterian Ministers' association today.

Treatment of the disease by an oil pressed from the seeds of an Oriental fruit, he said, has brought permanent cure to many victims and scientific refinement of the oil is expected to bring new benefits to thousands of leper colony patients.

"Eight thousand lepers are living under the United States flag," he said, "and cases are under treatment in 32 states. The disease cannot be stamped out of this country until it is eradicated throughout the world for undetected lepers always will pass immigration inspectors."

The American mission, Mr. Danner reported, operates in 18 countries and conducts 100 hospitals in which 20,000 patients are being treated.

CHRISTY TO BRING DUCE'S PORTRAIT TO UNITED STATES

Rome, November 21.—(AP)—After painting four portraits of Italian notables in three weeks, Howard Chandler Christy, American artist, will sail for New York on the steamship Conte Rosso Tuesday, taking with him the canvases of Premier Mussolini, Crown Prince Humbert, Countess Di Frasso—formerly Miss Dorothy Taylor, of New York—and Prince Philip of Hesse, husband of Princess Mafalda. He will exhibit the paintings at New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Mrs. Christy carries with her a photographed photographs of 11 duce and the two princes.

Italians in New York commissioned Christy to paint Mussolini, and he made a special trip here for that purpose. This and the other portraits will be returned to Italy in a few months and will occupy permanent places in the galleries in Rome.

RESISTING ARREST FATAL TO 1; PAL SHOT

Ferriday, La., November 21.—(AP)—Edgar Andrews, 38, shot and killed and Wallace Hobbs, 24, was wounded here today by John McVey, night town marshal, when the men who said they were mechanics from Missouri, resisted arrest.

Andrews and Hobbs were overtaken by R. N. Harris, manager of a hotel here, who summoned the marshal after the men were alleged to have sought to rob a slot machine in the hotel.

Andrews was shot through the chest while Hobbs was hit by a bullet in the shoulder.

Atlanta's Airport

The board of directors of the National Aeronautics Association of the United States will meet at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel to elect officers. Henderson Hallman is president.

After carrying Inspector L. C. Wilson, of the department of commerce, to Blundale, Ga., to inspect the wreckage of an airplane which crashed near that city Friday, Doug Davis returned to Candler field late Monday afternoon. Davis also accompanied Pilot J. O. "Slim" Culpepper in the delivery of a new Waco airplane to A. W. Tisdale, of Milledgeville.

The plane which crashed near Blundale was piloted by Roy Smith, of Blundale. It was reported, Smith is said to have suffered several fractured ribs, while a man named Hogue, who is connected with commercial aviation at Candler field, was bruised and received lacerations about the scalp. Smith and Hogue were flying an Eaglehawk, and crashed when they overshot a small field in an emergency landing, it was said.

WOMAN'S DIVISION INSPECTS BAKING COMPANY'S PLANT

The regular monthly meeting of the woman's division of the chamber of commerce, held Monday evening, was in the nature of a "seeing Atlanta" trip, and furnished an interesting program.

The forum committee having arranged for transportation by bus, approximately 60 members assembled at the chamber of commerce building at 6 p. m. and were driven to the plant of the Southern Baking company. Receiving them at their destination were Miss Bell Pepper and Mrs. Clarence Brandt, of the Southern Baking company, together with the reception committee of the division. On arrival a sumptuous dinner was served, bread and cake baked by the company being used. After dinner a trip of inspection was made through the plant while in operation, showing the preparation and baking of their various products.

Miss Lois Manning, president of the woman's division, was official hostess of the occasion.

REFERENDUM IS ASKED ON NEW CITY HALL SITE

Petition for a referendum as to the location of the new $1,000,000 city hall was filed Monday with Walter C. Taylor, city clerk. The paper was signed by R. L. Sharp, of a Marietta street address. If the referendum is to be held at least 10 per cent of the voters must call at the city hall and sign the paper.

City council already has voted to station the new municipal building at Washington and Mitchell streets. The petition set out that the site selected for the new city hall is inconvenient to a large number of Atlantans, and asks that the people of the city be permitted to choose between the present site of the city hall and the proposed one.

Pluto Water Bringing Health and Happiness to Millions

Los Angeles, Calif. June 27, 1927

I used to suffer a great deal with headaches. Some time ago my physician prescribed a small dose of Pluto each morning in hot water. Thanks to Pluto, I have not had a headache in more than a year.

—Florence Sherman

ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
U. S. Senator from New York and formerly Health Commissioner of the City of New York

Dr. Copeland says: "Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many of the cathartic compounds on the market. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. They are soothing and healing to the tissues. Sugar coated pills are pleasant to take which may add to their danger. That is the reason they are coated with sugar. They are no less drastic and habit-forming because they appeal to the taste. Mineral waters pass through the system, doing nothing else but to flush and cleanse the intestinal tract."

INSTITUTES PLANNED FOR GEORGIA TOWNS

Athens, Ga., November 21.—(Special.)—The outlines of a plan whereby a business men's institute may be held in every town and city in Georgia, is announced in a bulletin issued by Dr. R. P. Brooks, dean of the school of commerce, University of Georgia.

These institutes will be held in connection with the division of home study. Each institute will last for one day and will be attended by at least two members of the teaching staff of the school of commerce.

Subjects such as the business cycle, the federal reserve system, taxation in Georgia, Georgia and her public utilities, the middleman in modern business, Georgia's manufacturing possibilities, family budgets, the south and organized labor, meeting mail order competition, meeting chain store competition, cooperative marketing, foreign trade, insurance in modern business, making an investment, cotton future trading, budgetary control, and the merchant and his contractors, will be discussed at these conferences.

Dean Brooks asserts his belief that the staff of experts and technically trained men of his faculty have something of value to offer the business interest of the state. "The exchange of ideas at such conferences will be of mutual benefit," Dr. Brooks announces.

Institutes will be held in any community where as many as 25 business men signify a desire for such meetings. Two sessions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, will be held at each institute.

Secretaries of chambers of commerce and luncheon clubs have been mailed copies of the bulletin and will be asked to assist in the organization of groups, Dr. Brooks announces.

Dixie Road Auxiliary
To Meet at Fitzgerald;
To Beautify Highway

Fitzgerald, Ga., November 21.—(P) A meeting of the Georgia division of the Dixie Highway Association Women's auxiliary will be held at Fitzgerald Monday, November 28, to perfect plans for beautifying the highway.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, of Atlanta, vice president for Georgia of the association auxiliary announces.

The Fitzgerald Chamber of Commerce and the Fitzgerald Women's club will entertain the women of the state expected at the meeting, Mrs. Sharp says.

Members of women's clubs, women's civic organizations and members of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy of the Fitzgerald territory have been invited to the meeting.

Local arrangements at Fitzgerald are in charge of the joint hosts, and Isador Gelders, of Fitzgerald, secretary of the central division of the Dixie Highway association.

Mrs. G. E. Rieckler is president of the Fitzgerald Women's club and Mrs. Robert E. Lee is chairman of the Ben Hill county auxiliary of the highway association.

50 FREIGHT EXPERTS
DISCUSS NEW RATES

Some 50 freight experts, representing large shippers in every southern state met in Atlanta Monday for the quarterly conference of the Southern Traffic League, on the Ansley hotel roof garden. Discussion on the revised southern freight rates featured the gathering. The rates will become effective in January.

COTTON INDUSTRY WILL BE ASSISTED BY TWO MEASURES

Washington, November 21.—(P)—Two bills aimed to assist the cotton industry will be reintroduced next session by Senator Ransdell, democrat, of Louisiana.

In a statement given out at his office here today, Senator Ransdell said he would ask a measure establishing a standard bale of cotton to weigh 500 pounds, exclusive of bagging and ties, for interstate and foreign commerce shipment.

He believes under such a system the controversy in the cotton trade resulting from the challenge of the accuracy of government estimates would not have occurred. The Louisiana senator thinks the varying weights of bales perhaps led to the confusion.

In his second bill, Senator Ransdell would increase the duty on imports of lute in order to encourage the manufacture of bagging in this country from low grade cotton.

MADDER SPONSORS LEASE OF SHOALS

Washington, November 21.—(P)—Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee proposes to introduce at this session a bill sponsored by him in the last congress providing lease of the government Muscle Shoals properties to the American Cyanamid company.

The new measure will be practically identical to the old one which failed to receive approval by the house military committee to which it was referred for consideration.

The measure as introduced a year ago provided for the lease of the properties to the Air Nitrates corporation of New York, a subsidiary of the Cyanamid company.

The proposed lease of the operating company would have gradually placed power units at the shoals in operation until a maximum production of 40,000 tons of nitrates annually was reported. The government would have been required to construct Cove creek dam on the upper waters of the Tennessee river at a cost in excess of $20,000,000.

BOULDER CANYON PROJECT IS HIT

Washington, November 21.—(P)—The government should attempt to solve the question of government ownership of hydroelectric power at Muscle Shoals before it attempts to launch into another power plant at Boulder Canyon dam, Chairman Spell of the house rules committee declared today after a call at the white house.

He said that he was in favor of erecting a power dam at Boulder Canyon and to provide adequate flood control of the Colorado river, but he declared that the question of government ownership of a power plant had proved to be too much of a failure at Muscle Shoals to warrant further expeditions into this field until the situation in Alabama had been cleared up.

Chairman Spell, whose committee is virtually all-powerful in dictating what should be brought up on the floor of the house, said that he believed one of several bids for the purchase of Muscle Shoals would be accepted and he said that it was up to the various opposing factions in congress and particularly those who advocated government ownership to give some ground in reaching an agreement.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR KAPPA ALPHA CONVENTION HERE

Complete plans for the entertainment of the biennial general convention of the Kappa Alpha fraternity in Atlanta December 29-31 were presented Monday night at a smoker given by the Atlanta Alumni association at the Ansley hotel.

More than 100 of the local alumni were present at the meeting, which was in charge of Henry Heinz, president. R. Fleet, general chairman of the convention, outlined in detail the various features of the convention.

Reports were made by George McCarty, chairman reception committee; Lowry Nicholson, chairman transportation and hotels; DeSales Harrison, chairman committee in charge of smoker; Hugh Carter, chairman of dance committee; John Wesley Weeks, chairman model initiation committee; John L. Westmoreland, chairman banquet committee; H. McCall, budges and favors, and Charles Howard Candler, chairman finance committee.

Fred Houser, secretary Atlanta convention bureau, was present and tendered the services of his organization during the convention.

Greetings from the association were conveyed to Bishop and Mrs. Warren A. Candler on the anniversary of their golden wedding.

More than 1,000 delegates from over the south are expected to attend the convention which will be held at the Biltmore hotel. The Atlanta association is the largest in the order.

NATTY MARAUDER
ENTERS WINDOW;
FLEES WITH CASH

While a number of visitors were seated in the living room of the apartment of Mrs. Jessie McKowan, at 443 Ponce de Leon avenue, a well-dressed young white man entered by means of a back window and escaped with a purse containing $25, according to report given police.

Call Officers M. D. Cartwright and E. E. Brackett were told that the youth was dressed in light trousers, a short, dark coat, and wore a light cap. The burglar also wore a wrist watch, police were told.

BUSINESS WOMEN OF SECOND BAPTIST
IN ANNUAL DINNER

An elaborate "Bluebird" dinner, an annual affair of the Business Women's league, of the Second Baptist church, was held Monday night at the Atlanta Athletic club, with more than 200 members present. Fred J. Paxton presided at the meeting.

Among the speakers were Fred Houser, W. W. Orr, Frank S. Edwards, John S. Spalding and Rev. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the church. Mrs. Fred J. Paxton, president of the league, responded with a brief talk. Readings were given by Dr. J. F. Watson and Mrs. S. A. Eastlack, two well-known local orators and expression teachers.

In addition to the speaking an interesting musical program was given by several well-known musicians.

MURDER CHARGED TO RICHMOND MAN
AS WOMAN DIES

Richmond, Va., November 21.—(P) A theory that John W. Faison shot Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes in a rage because he was faced with the apparent necessity of giving her up was alleged today by police who arrested the Hermitage County club secretary and manager at 2:30 a. m. on a charge of first-degree murder.

The arrest followed an intensive probe lasting until well past midnight. Commonwealth's Attorney Dave E. Satterfield stated today that he would oppose any motion for bail.

Faison was taken into custody when Mrs. Snipes, originally from Princeton, N. C., died at a hospital from bullet wounds last Wednesday morning soon after she had been taken there by Faison. He told hospital attendants and police, authorities said, that the woman had shot herself in her apartment while he was present.

Until today Faison was at liberty under $10,000 bond on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Club Meets Today.

Members of the American Business club will hold their regular meeting at 1 o'clock today in the Henry Grady hotel. A special program of dancers and other attractions has been arranged.

Dry Organization Like New South, Losing Colonels

Washington, November 21.—(United News.)—Like the new south, the federal prohibition organization is losing its "colonels."

Only two or three remain in the service, which is fast becoming demilitarized. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman said today.

In addition, the treasury has decided to drop proposed legislation under which retired army officers could serve in the prohibition bureau without forfeiting their army retirement pay.

All legislative projects fostered by former Dry Chief Andrews will be dropped, Lowman said, and no new ones proposed.

"We have sufficient laws now to enforce prohibition," he added.

New regulations, which will cut down on the issuance of whiskey by physicians' prescriptions, will be put into effect by January 1, Lowman said. The new regulations will even be more stringent than the present.

Withdrawals of medicinal spirits has fallen off so rapidly that no necessity exists for replenishing the supply, and at the present rate of use, the 12,000,000 gallons on hand will last six or seven years, he added.

SCHLEE AND BROCK TO TRY ENDURANCE TEST IN FLORIDA

Brock, world fliers, will arrive here this week to stage a world's endurance flight above the local beach in an effort to beat the present record flying time of 52 hours and 23 minutes, according to word received here by the chamber of commerce this morning from Richard Blythe, of the firm of H. A. Brun-R. R. Blythe, New York city. Mr. Blythe says the fliers will leave Detroit in the "Spirit of Detroit" today or tomorrow.

GOVERNOR ABSENT FROM LASH TRIAL

Lufkin, Ala., November 21.—(AP)—Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, to answer a summons, marked the first day of the trial of 14 men accused of complicity in a score or more cases of masked violence in Crenshaw county.

The governor was summoned last night, but word from his home in Montgomery indicated that he was suffering from a slight attack of influenza.

Disposition of several minor local cases, organization of a jury and other preliminary held in the morning trials until late in the day.

The state immediately set about selection of the first of the 34 men to stand trial.

Thirty-three of the men indicted for kidnapping and assault and battery in connection with masked floozing in Crenshaw county were present when the trials opened.

The thirty-fourth, the Rev. L. A. Nalls, former pastor of a Georgian, Ala., church, has been a fugitive from justice since his indictment.

Among the more prominent men indicted for complicity in masked violence in the county is Ira B. Thompson, prominent Lufkin attorney and reputedly exalted cyclops of the Lufkin klavern of the K. K. Klan.

Other men who will be tried are: Deane Bullard, Dave Bolling, Press Skipper, Gus Beaman, W. S. Stallings, Shelby Greaves, Thaddeus Miller, Maxie Miller, Walton Wolf, Rufus Welch, Elmer H. Wofford, Morson, Zelle Kelly, Charlie Holmes, Roy Helms, J. G. Williamson, I. D. Hawkins, Andrew Cusbert, George Branson, Oscar Edge, Luther Holley, Howard, Walter, Natlie, Theo Marsh, Jack Jones, Mack Watson, Worth Thomas, Joe Thomas, Glen Moody, Will Grayson, S. E. Gibbons, Elmer Arant.

Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, of Alabama, is personally directing the prosecution of the men.

same man who planned the murder deliberately with the aid of confederates. It was the first time the charge of conspiracy has been made in open court over heated objections the state's representative alleged that George Conners, George Klug and Miss Blanche Watson had been present when Remus planned the slaying.

qualifications of men desiring to enter the conference on trial. The committee on applicants and another on admissions examine the new men recommended by the district conferences for admission, while the committee for the first, second, third and fourth years examine the men so admitted, and who have been employed by the conference for the years indicated.

The Rev. T. J. Christian, G. F. Venable, J. C. Adams, J. G. Davis, H. G. Smith, E. G. Thompson, W. G. Crowder, G. W. Hamilton, T. M. Sullivan, A. Harris, A. Brown, R. C. Coker, and others, the applicants' committee, while the Revs. A. M. Spawberry, W. L. Pierce and L. M. Twigg, composed that committee.

The first year committee is made up of the Revs. W. W. Carroll, W. H. Clark and C. D. Reid. The Revs. W. M. Twigg, M. B. Sams and S. S. Johnson, composed the second year board. The Rev. J. H. Barton, J. E. Davis and A. P. Watkins composed the third year committee, while the Revs. J. M. Radford, J. R. Turner and F. E. Crutcher constitute that of the fourth year.

The class of the first year is composed of the Revs. B. Barton, S. H. Dixon, L. B. Harrell, G. B. Henderson, R. J. Johnson, W. F. Lunsford, N. C. McPherson, Jr., F. J. Pagan, G. E. Ramsey, E. H. Russell, J. B. Smith, R. W. Stone and J. P. Varner. The second year class is made up of the Revs. W. Allison, W. L. Brackman, W. J. Boyson, L. L. Burch, J. K. Burch, J. K. Dean, C. A. Dougherty, Messrs. Elmer, W. E. Frost, H. B. Hawkins, Z. C. Hays, Jr., W. L. Jolly, J. G. Lupo, B. H. McHann, N. A. Parsons, T. F. Sherman, C. C. Sorenson, H. C. Starnes, A. F. Taylor, W. F. Walden, J. E. Ward and J. F. Young.

Third-Year Class. Young ministers of the third year class are the Revs. M. M. Maxwell, J. M. Grier, S. A. Dasher, E. O. Vickers, J. L. Harrison, J. W. Lee, P. A. Turner, J. K. Kelly, E. C. Swannam and F. H. Ray. Members of the class of the fourth year are the Revs. J. A. Lanford, F. I. Green, R. W. Wood, J. S. Thraill, L. B. Bridges and Claude M. Haynes.

The members of the various classes will appear before their respective committees for examination on the prescribed, courses of study, and, if passed, will be promoted to the class next in advance. Fourth-year men, passing all tests, will be ordained elders, while second-year men, passing their tests, will be ordained deacons and admitted into full connection.

Young men applying for admission on trial, passing proper tests, will be this admitted, and be assigned a pastoral charge for a year under the supervision of a presiding elder. The following fall, should their work and examinations meet approval, they will be advanced to the next class and continued on trial for another year.

By pursuing this method throughout the entire Southern Methodist territory, the ministers of the denomination who are in full connection come to be highly and uniformly trained for their special work. Southern Methodism's ministry is, therefore, seldom disturbed by unorthodox teachings and inadequately-trained men.

The question has been asked, "Will the North Georgia Methodist conference undertake in any way to dictate any kind of political policy for the people of this state in the coming presidential election year?"

The answer to the inquiry may be ascertained by a study of the history of the past. The North Georgia Methodist conference has never been given to meddling in politics, for its vision has been of things higher and holier. When it comes to sinning convictions pertaining to moral issues, the conference has not been reticent to declare for righteousness and social justice.

SCHOOL-WIRING BID IS AGAIN REJECTED

Councilman Ben T. Huett, of the third, this automatically holds the measure up, until the next regular meeting of council.

Bid Again Turned Back. Proponents of the Walker company's bid let a fight to place it again on the floor of city council, after Alderman Charles Murphy, acting mayor pro tem, had ruled it out of order.

Councilman A. J. Orme and John A. White lost an appeal from the decision of the chair by a vote of 23 to 3, and this automatically sent it back to the school board. Action of council in declining to approve the contract after it had been sent to it a second time was not a surprise in view of the fact that it was rejected by so overwhelming a vote the first time it was offered.

A proposal offered by Councilman W. E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, which would authorize council to consider recommendations of the bond commission regarding administration of bond funds as it does recommendations of other committees and commissions, was brought into the meeting with an adverse recommendation of the finance committee, on the grounds that it was improperly drawn. It was revised and resubmitted but the author withdrew it so that it could be studied.

Construction of the Ashby Street school will be done by the Converse-Meyers company, the Stevens Plumbing company will do the plumbing.

Council voted to place finances of the city for the remainder of the year under the direction of a trusteeship composed of Councilman Orme, chairman of the finance committee of city council, Mayor E. N. Ragsdale and City Comptroller B. Graham West.

An ordinance authorizing the closing of Pryor street and Central avenue to grade crossings pending construction of the twin viaducts was passed.

At the request of the tenth ward delegation, council unanimously passed a resolution requesting the Atlanta board of education to locate a negro school in Oakland City. The paper was offered by Alderman Charles M. Ford, of the tenth, but the whole delegation sponsored it.

Mayor Ragsdale returned without his approval a measure designed to authorize a fund of $225 to supplement salaries of radium technicians at the Albert Steiner cancer clinic.

Fascist Foes Arrested

Rome, November 21.—(AP)—Deputy Pontio San Sebastiano and General Benvenuto have been arrested at Terni charged with having favored anti-fascist "subversives" to leave the country in order to plot against fascism.

Then the government learned of Remus' activities. He was sent to jail.

But even then Mrs. Remus and her husband loved. She visited him in jail and scrubbed the floor for Remus so that his cell might be more habitable.

Prohibition Ace.

But a day came when there stepped into the life of Mrs. Remus a former prohibition ace in the department of justice. He had dug up the evidence which sent Remus to the penitentiary.

Mrs. Remus and the agent, Franklin L. Dodge, Elston related, began to live improperly while Remus was in jail. Not content with the theft of Mrs. Remus' love, Elston went on to Dodge conspired with her to steal the prisoner's fortune. They used a generous power of attorney Remus had made over to his wife and sold much of his property.

They conspired to deport him and gangsters, Elston charged, were offered $15,000 to kill him, and would have done so had not Remus been informed of the plot.

Such things, the lawyer contended, had an effect on Remus' mind.

Then, said the cab driver, he heard Remus use profane and abusive words, and he was not content with the theft of Mrs. Remus' love, Elston went on to Dodge conspired with her to steal the prisoner's fortune. They used a generous power of attorney Remus had made over to his wife and sold much of his property.

When he returned Remus had gone, subsequently to appear at a police station.

Plans to Fight

Elston indicated he would fight the state's case every bit of the way. "Were you excited?" he asked Stevens in cross-examination.

"No sir," said the witness. "Then are you sure the gun was in the right hand pocket?"

"Yes," Stevens replied. Elston smiled, and later explained to reporters that Remus is left handed.

"As a matter of fact, did you know George Remus never swears?" the lawyer then asked.

But the question was excluded amid the snickers of reporters, who have heard Remus discuss Dodge in jail interviews, and court was adjourned until tomorrow, when the state will call other eye-witnesses.

HOUSE BODY FAVORS $25,000,000 CUT

12 to 2, the suggestion for downward revision of the surtax rates.

A motion was adopted to refer to consider proposals for repeal or reduction of the tax on tobacco sales and also the levy on stamp sales. A motion tion to reconsider action regarding the stamp taxes, however, was pending at adjournment.

The committee also voted to eliminate the tax on cereal beverages, a levy producing about $150,000 annually in revenue.

While the action today is regarded as definitely indicating the program the committee will pursue in drafting the new tax bill, it is possible that some changes may be sought. Under committee rules a vote always is taken on bills as a whole at the time they are reported to the house.

Green Refuses Comment.

Announcement of the committee's action, taken in executive session, was made by Chairman Green. He declined, however, to say by what vote the various proposals had been approved or rejected and this information had to be obtained from other committee members. Green likewise declined to comment on what had been done.

After the meeting a number of the republican members held an informal session which was attended by Speaker Longworth. It was the second time the speaker has conferred with his republican colleagues since the present tax sessions of the committee started.

At the outset of today's session Undersecretary Mills of the treasury was questioned at some length by the committee. It was his second appearance since executive sessions began and he was asked to explain the method employed by the department in reaching the conclusion that $225,000,000 represented the maximum available for tax reduction.

Garner Asked Larger Sum.

Representative Garner, of Texas, asking demand on the committee, declared he had hoped for a larger maximum.

"It is not as high as it should be," he declared, "but it will be more than $250,000,000 before the house gets through with it and it will be even more before it becomes a law."

Garner said the program approved today embodies practically all recommendations proposed in the democratic tax bill which republicans pigeonholed in the ways and means committee last session. He predicted the committee, in view of the day's action, would proceed in drafting a tax bill about as follows:

Cut the tax rate on corporation incomes from 13 1/2 to 11 1/2 per cent. Estimated loss in revenue, $172,000,000.

Reduce the sales tax on automobiles from 3 to 1 1/2 per cent. Loss, about $33,000,000.

Repeal the tax on admissions up to 33 tickets. This, he said, still would enable a tax on prize fight tickets. Loss estimated at $10,800,000.

Eliminate tax on club dues. Loss, $10,000,000. Garner also predicted that instead of the treasury suggestion for modification of the tax rates on corporations with small incomes a substitute would be adopted. The substitute, which he said he favored, would result in a loss of about $27,800,000 in revenue. He outlined it as follows:

For small corporations allow a graduated tax of 5 per cent on net incomes under $7,000; 7 per cent on $7,000 to $12,000 incomes, and 9 per cent on $12,000 to $15,000 incomes. The present exemption of $2,000 would be retained.

The treasury recommendation favored permitting corporations with net incomes of $25,000 or less, and with not more than ten stockholders, to file returns as partnerships at their option.

RAYON OF FOREIGN MAKE WILL NOT BE EXCLUDED FROM U.S.

Washington, November 21.—(AP)—The treasury today dismissed an application for an anti-dumping order against German and Italian rayon, a silk-like cloth.

Assistant Secretary Lowman said the department had decided that there was no surplus stock of rayon yarn in the United States and that the difference in price between domestic and Italian and German rayon was too slight to affect the American trade.

Polish Students FIRE ON FORMER COMRADE; ASSASSIN

Lemberg, Poland, November 21.—(United News).—Three students fired seven shots early today at Michael Huk, who with another student attempted to assassinate President Wojciechowski in 1924, critically wounding Huk.

The police said that the assailants claimed Huk later had joined the secret service and was, therefore, a traitor to their cause.

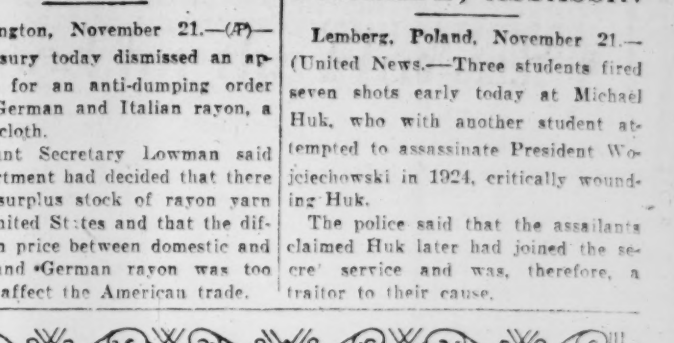

SUPREME COURT REFUSES REVIEW IN LIQUOR CASES

Washington, November 21.—(AP)—The supreme court refused today to review three cases from Seattle, Wash., in which Roy Olmstead, Charles S. Green, Edward H. McInnis and others were convicted of violating the federal prohibition law and which challenged the right of the government to use evidence by tapping telephone wires.

Miners Warned But Refused To Halt, Witness Claims

DRAMATIC STORY TOLD BY STATE OFFICIAL

Denver, Colo., November 21.—(AP)—The story of how striking miners were dispersed by bullets at the Columbine mine early today, as told by Sterling B. Lacy, state budget commissioner, an eyewitness, follows:

"I have never witnessed a more dramatic scene. Day was just breaking. The mob of cursing men, hurling stones, sticks and welding knives, came on like a tornado. Retreating slowly before them was Louis Scherf with his 20 state policemen, pleading, begging and entreating the mob members to stop.

"Adam Bell, I. W. W. organizer, gave the order for the mob to advance. 'Come on, boys! Let's go in and get 'em!' He refused to heed Scherf's pleas. A few feet behind Scherf were the state police, in two lines, all of them excited, all of them brave, some of them cursing back at the 'wobblies.'

"I have never seen a man with more nerve than Scherf displayed. Before he gave his order to fire one state policeman had his eye almost gouged out by a stone; another almost lost a finger, wounded by a knife. Scherf was cut and bleeding and so were all the members of his force.

"When it became apparent that there was no stopping the force of the strikers, now leaping to fire one full fury, Scherf issued an order to fire. The first volley went over the heads of the mob. It did not stop them. The next volley was directly at them. The mob stopped. It was a matter of seconds before the wounded began to fall.

"As men in the ranks of the 'wobblies' toppled to the ground, the advance column of strikers then turned and fled. As the main body retreated, the wounded persons fell at intervals. It was a terrible sight to see the sprawling forms of the men lying on that bare stretch of ground. I counted 12 of them, among whom we learned later was a woman. She was dressed as a man and in the pale morning light, it was impossible to distinguish her as a woman. I doubt if she could have been so distinguished in broad daylight.

"As they fled the strikers continued to curse and hurl stones and took with them all but five of the wounded. Some of them may have been dead; it was impossible to tell.

"In all I believe about 30 shots were fired. I don't think all Scherf's men fired at the same time. They were in two lines of ten men each. The first line laid down a barrage while the second held itself in reserve.

"Medical aid was summoned from Erie by telephone from the Columbine mine. After being assured that persons could start immediately for the scene of the battle, I left for Denver to advise Governor Adams what had taken place."

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE IS FELT IN ALASKA

Juneau, Alaska, November 21.—(AP)—A severe earthquake at 6:15 a. m. today awakened many residents of Juneau. The motion lasted about 15 seconds.

Magnet Observer F. P. Ulrich, at Sitka, near here, registered the shock at 6:15 a. m. The tremor was strong enough to shake movable objects, but no material damage was reported either at Sitka or Juneau.

A slighter and slower earth movement was felt 15 seconds later.

Ulrich said the shock at Sitka was the heaviest since the quake of October 24, which shook all of southeastern Alaska. He said he believed the center of the disturbance was probably the same as the previous shock. This point has not been determined, but it was believed to have been off the coast of southeastern Alaska in the Pacific ocean.

MOTHER IN CAR WHICH KILLED 4-YEAR-OLD SON

Savannah, Ga., November 21.—(AP)—What started out as a brief pleasure ride on Sunday afternoon terminated in a tragedy when it was revealed that Mrs. Etta Garrett was a passenger in the automobile that unwittingly ran down and killed her four-year-old son, Cecil James Gause, directly in front of their home at 312 Charlton street, west.

This light today after police investigation. None of the six occupants of the automobile were aware that anything had happened until a girl who had chased the car for several blocks informed them that they had killed a little boy.

Los Angeles, November 21.—(AP)—Reunited only a few hours after being separated 44 years, Clayton H. Nichols, 62, Emmetsburg, Ia., and his 85-year-old mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Nichols, of Los Angeles, went to their deaths in an automobile accident near here today.

Mrs. J. W. Giddings, 58, sister of Nichols, also was killed. Her husband was injured.

Nichols left home when he was 18 and saw his mother last night for the first time in nearly half a century. There was a happy reunion and Nichols started with his mother and Mrs. Giddings early today to drive to Burlingame, Cal., to spend Thanksgiving with Frank G. Nichols, a brother whom he had never seen.

Coming down a mountainous highway, the car in which the four were riding struck a truck. The truck driver was not seriously injured.

NEW YORK MAN HELD UP, ROBBED, ON FRENCH LINKS

Paris, November 21.—The prefecture's smartest sleuths are seeking two masked bandits who held up and robbed Julian Little, former New York champagne agent, on the exclusive St. Cloud golf links last Friday.

Little was playing with Aubrey Boomer, the club's professional, and had reached the fourteenth tee, which is surrounded by a forest, when two men, a pair of black silk masks hiding their faces, leaped over the stone wall, and brandishing revolvers, ordered hands up.

Boomer had no valuables on him and Little had left his wallet, watch and everything else of value at the club house, with the exception of a jeweled platinum cigarette case, which the bandits took.

TON OF FAKE NOTES SEIZED BY SOVIETS

Berlin, November 21.—(AP)—A Munich engineer named Bell has been implicated by police investigating the forgery of millions of Russian chervonets notes, but Bell had fled across the border when the forgery was discovered.

Police said today that Bell apparently had been commissioned to put the forged notes in circulation in the Balkans and especially in Sofia and Constantinople, as part of the alleged gigantic plot to upset the Russian financial structure by making its paper money worthless. The engineer is alleged to have been a trusted agent of the Caucasian liberation party which seeks to free Georgia from soviet Russia.

One Sada Thiera Schwill, who was arrested in Frankfurt last week with several others when a ton of the counterfeit notes was discovered, has been found to have lived several years in Munich where he was secretary to a Russian prince. Police are now endeavoring to locate his Munich acquaintances in the hope that they may be able to give valuable information as to his activities.

Police have also found trails leading to Breslau where Privy Councillor Dr. Rakette was implicated. Dr. Rakette lived until recently in Frankfurt where the counterfeit notes were discovered. He asserted he did not know that certain materials found in his home had been used for forgery purposes. Dr. Rakette was brought to Berlin.

The Georgian league here issued a statement declaring "the rightful Georgian government, whose president, Noe Jordania, is now living in exile in Paris, has had nothing whatever to do with the chervonets forgeries and has maintained no relations with the forgers."

GRANGE REINDORSES POLICIES OF TABOR

Cleveland, November 21.—(AP)—Re-election today of Louis J. Tabor, Columbus, Ohio, as master of the National Grange for the third successive two years term was looked upon by Grange leaders as an endorsement of Tabor's sustained fight for an "export debenture as the most logical solution to the farm relief problem."

The National Grange voted to back the "export debenture plan," designed to give agriculture favorable tariffs on exports such as those now enjoyed by industry, at its 1926 convention in Portland, Ore. Reindorsement of the debenture plan at the present convention is expected from indications seen in reelection of Tabor. Tabor represented the Grange before congressional committees and presented the debenture plan in a nation wide campaign.

Masters of State Grange and their wives, who comprise the official assembly of the convention, today heard six legislative proposals which their authors have requested the Grange to endorse. Action on the proposals will be taken probably Thursday or Friday.

HUSBAND OF FORMER ROME GIRL PASSES

News of the death of Warren Davidge, retired capitalist, Sunday night at his home in Roseland, N. J., was received here Monday by Mr. Davidge, close friends of the bereaved family.

It is evident that some few Atlantans believe that there will be a football game in Birmingham Thursday—or else they like to witness slaughters. Call at the Travel Bureau Monday were more than 50 per cent for routings to Birmingham.

To Birmingham via Gadsden or Anniston can be made without difficulty should there be no further rains. The routes through Gadsden are the most popular. Via Rockmart and Cedartown is 190 miles, with construction between Marietta and Cave Springs. Both routes are the same from Cave Springs and there is some construction in Alabama before reaching Gadsden. Via Carrollton and Anniston is about the same distance and is also under construction in several places.

Either route can be driven in about eight hours, unless there should be later rains, which might make the trip somewhat unsatisfactory.

The Constitution's Red Wolverine pathfinders are constantly scouting the roads so that by simply calling Walnut 6565 and asking for the travel bureau, you may get the latest data on any road. This service is free. Motorists of the various routes may be had for 25 cents.

OIL WELL FLAMES EXTINGUISHED BY USE OF EXPLOSIVE

Earlsboro, Okla., November 21.—(AP) The Twin States Oil company's well near here, which had flamed like a giant torch since last Tuesday, was extinguished today when W. M. Kinney, a professional oil fire fighter from Tulsa, exploded 50 quarts of nitroglycerine near the snouting flame.

One life was lost when the flames roared forth Tuesday, ignited by a short-circuited wire. The approximate loss was $200,000.

Kinney extinguished the fire on his sixth attempt. Wrapping the 50 quarts of explosive in asbestos and placing it inside an asbestos barrel, he wheeled it as near the fire as possible and set off the charge. The terrific detonation muffled out the flame and shattered windows in houses within a radius of three miles.

David Hudson, an employee, was cremated Tuesday when he failed to reach safety after wading from the first rush of the flames.

"Stopped-Up" Nose

A Simple Method of Prevention

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as Catarrh or chronic colds. It often produces chronic headaches and deafness, affecting the eyes and voice, and frequently weakening the lungs. Get rid of catarrh by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, berries and flowers, which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette. The smoke vapor is inhaled into the air passages of the nose, head, throat and lungs, and carries medicines where sprays, douches and ointments cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing, and as it contains no tobacco or opium is perfectly harmless, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

Thousands Throng To Pay Last Tribute to 'Tiger' As Funeral Services Are Held at City Auditorium

Many Prominent Whites Attend Final Rites of Popular Negro Fighter; Burial in Lincoln Memorial.

After solemn rites had been pronounced before nearly 7,000 people who packed every nook and cranny of the Atlanta auditorium, "Tiger" Flowers, noted negro pugilist, left in a bronze casket Monday afternoon for the Lincoln Memorial cemetery where the funeral services were held in a half a hundred fights in a career which led him at one time to the world's championship in his class.

With nearly 7,000 people in the building, half that many stood outside unable to gain admission. A total of more than 10,000 people watched the funeral cortege as it moved to the Lincoln Memorial cemetery where the funeral services were held in a half a hundred fights in a career which led him at one time to the world's championship in his class.

Although the huge crowd sat in awe of solemnity for nearly three hours during the funeral services, which were of an unusually elaborate nature, there was no loud outburst or demonstration of any kind. The widow and members of the family of the famous fighter waited about at the rear of the auditorium, the crowd tending to prevent any unusual emotional scenes.

At the funeral were prominent white people of Atlanta and throughout the state, and the largest crowd of negroes ever seen at a funeral here. The leading dignitaries of the colored Methodist Episcopal church took prominent part in the exercises while prominent negro musicians, negro educators and ministers made brief talks. With the elaborate program of song and instrumental numbers the services lasted nearly three hours.

Auditorium Filled Early.
Long before the casket had reached the auditorium that building was completely filled to its utmost capacity and the fire officials had declined to admit any other people. Those who failed to gain admission stood outside and watched the funeral procession as it arrived and waited through the services until the casket was brought out to be carried to its final resting place.

When the service began the procession moved into the auditorium while every person stood in reverential respect. As City Organizer Charles A. Sheldon played Chopin's "Funeral March" the procession moved slowly down the long aisle to the auditorium stage. Huge banks of flowers were placed in front of the stage, many of the bouquets being six and seven feet in height.

The procession into the building was led by the junior and senior choir of the Butler Street Colored Methodist Episcopal church, of which church the dead fighter was a member. Behind the choir came the members of the negro Masonic order and of other negro fraternal orders. Members of the Family followed and were ushered to reserved seats near the casket.

Opened With Prayer.

Services were opened with a prayer delivered by the Rev. J. E. Wilson, prominent negro educator of Atlanta. A Scriptural reading by the Rev. A. F. Bailey followed. A solo by Flora Barnett and a short talk by the Rev. C. C. Taylor were next followed by a solo by W. H. Aiken. The obituary was then read by Professor W. A. Bell. A song by the Butler Street choir, "Come Ye Disconsolate," followed.

The funeral address was delivered by the Rev. G. L. Ward, pastor of the Butler Street Colored Methodist Episcopal church. A solo by Stonewall Caruthers followed with a five-minute talk by the Rev. W. J. Faulkner, pastor of the First Congregational church, Atlanta, as next in order. After a violin solo by John Herbert Wheeler, a short talk was delivered by Dr. Innes of the Tuskegee institute, Tuskegee, Ala. The Morehouse college quartet sang an impressive number, which was followed by a violin solo by Professor Kemper Harzold.

Tribute to the long and creditable career of "Tiger" Flowers was paid by Morgan Blake, sports editor of The Atlanta Journal, who spoke briefly of the intrepid spirit of "Tiger" found in the heart of the "Tiger," and pointed out high marks in his ring career.

Bishop R. B. Carter paid eloquent tribute to the dead fighter in his closing remarks. The master of ceremonies was the Rev. J. D. Hudson, presiding elder of the Atlanta district of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church.

After the services at the auditorium the funeral procession moved to the Lincoln Memorial cemetery. Headed by the band of the Negro Elks of Atlanta, the procession (which the downtown business streets of Atlanta. Following the band were several fraternal orders, the hearse and casket, bearing the family and friends. The procession was more than a mile in length. At the grave the Negro Masons held service and after these the body was placed in the grave, which was banked with a small mountain of floral offerings coming from all parts of the country.

FLANAGAN WRITES TRIBUTE TO FLOWERS.

The following tribute to Flowers was written by Thomas Jefferson Flanagan, of Atlanta, prominent negro poet of the south:

"THE LAST DECISION"

(To "Tiger" Flowers.)

"All planned for battle royal, with heart as white as winter snow,
The gallant knight, firm in the Faith,
Went forth to meet his foe;
The contract signed with his own blood,
Coldly read that he,
Should meet in rendezvous with Death,
With Fate as referee.

"Into the last great Ring he sprang;
His trusty fist he drew—
Then like a streak in the night,
The starting whistle, he was gone,
Face to face the challengers stood in open bout,
And in the first round colorful, he
"floored" Death in "Knockout."

"But Death, that boxer who comes back, that chest of human hopes,
Reaching forth his fleshless fist
"floored" him thru the ropes;
The count being up, that arbiter Fate,
So versed in sports division
Awarded Death, the champion with
"That Just and Last Decision."

MANGET PRAISES COURTESY OF NEGROES.

Editor Constitution: Knowing your attitude toward the negro and your stand throughout the years in the matter of justice and fair play for him, I ask a few inches of space about this great question.

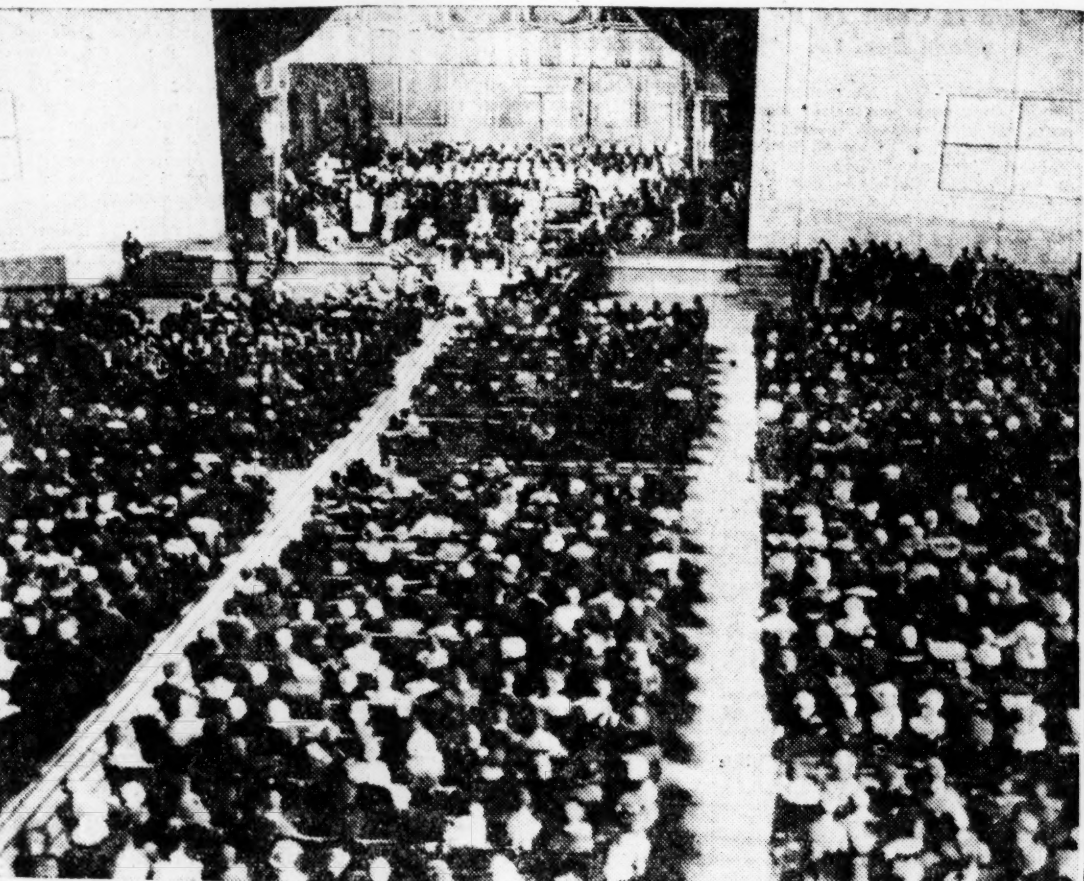

The negro as a race is most sympathetic, true, although often they do not act as though they were.

Only at the great funeral of Tiger Flowers one could not help but be impressed with the marked improvements that have taken place in the negro as a race during the past 10 years. Six thousand of them inside, 10,000 outside unable to get in the vast auditorium, yet, sadly disappointed, that they could not see and not one unpleasant word of complaint came from the vast throng.

The choicest section was filled to overflowing with whites, a majority of whom were women and girls. After this section was crowded, colored visitors were being working, bringing additional chairs and benches for the white people who came late.

Mr. Editor, ought not such treatment of white people by negroes while thousands of their own race were crowded out, tend to greater consideration for negroes by white people? Surely it will.

The tenser of our great auditorium to be used for this funeral ought to be—and Upper left shows a multitude of people standing both sides of Courtland street as the funeral cortege moved away from the auditorium. Upper right shows Walk Miller, Flowers' fight manager, viewing the body for the last time in the home on Simpson road shortly before the funeral services began. doubtless will be commended by all good citizens. Such acts as this should be multiplied.

When the day dawns in which our state, country, and city governments together with all of our courts, recognize the rights of negroes, and stand four square for the administration of justice to them, then that will be the beginning of a new and happier south.

Let Tiger Flowers' faith in God and his life, death and the great funeral tribute paid him hasten the dawning of this new day.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN A. MANGET,
November 3, 1927.

Jackets, Bulldogs Begin Work For Big Games This Week

Scrimmage Slated Today For Jackets

Red Devils Run Auburn Plays Against Varsity Crew in Dummy Practice.

Turkeys were hanging in store windows Monday, and Monday afternoon "Old Man Hardwork" hung out his sign at the flats and will keep it flapping in the breeze until December 3 has come and gone.

Dummy scrimmage and signal drill formed the main part of the program for the Jackets Monday and the Black Devils performed in front of the varsity teams for a half hour or more, parading the plays of the Auburn Tiger, which comes here for the entertainment of those who like to attend football games on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Varsity Scrimmages.

The first varsity run in dummy scrimmage against the Devils for only a short while and then scurried down to the lower end of the field to run signals until well after dark. The second varsity stayed up near the north stands while the Devils ran their plays.

There are only two more days left before Thanksgiving and scrimmage if any, will come this afternoon. The possibilities are very great, however, that scrimmage will be withheld until preparations are under way for the tussle with Georgia.

The sound seems to have come through last Saturday's game with Oglethorpe in good shape. Stumpy Thompson's shoulder is still sore, but Monday he was on the field in full uniform and taking part in the afternoon's activities.

Rusk, center on the second varsity, had a badly injured leg last week, which bothered him Saturday to some extent. Monday he seemed to be unhampered in his movements, which were extensive.

Bob Horne is Out.

Bob Horne, who made such a brilliant showing in the L. S. U. game, has been brought down by an attack of appendicitis, and probably will not be available the rest of the season. He will not play Thursday. And was out of the game on this account last Saturday.

Kid Clay's freshmen were back on their old stamping ground, the baseball field, Monday, which last week was given over to the varsity for set practice. Kid is driving his men hard for a game with the Georgia freshmen Saturday afternoon at the flats.

Stribling Kayoes Palmer in Sixth

Yalobusta, Ga., November 21. (P.) Young Stribling, of Atlanta, light heavyweight, won a technical knock-out over Andy "Kid" Palmer, of Philadelphia, in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout here tonight. Palmer displayed little except a willingness to answer the bell and absorb punishment. Both his eyes were closed when his seconds tossed in a towel.

Certainly.

Tunney says he wants to fight three times in 1928. But is Dempsey willing?

Marist - Aggie Game Is Changed

The Marist cadets, instead of playing Friday afternoon of this week, as stated Monday afternoon, will meet the Eighth District A. & M. school from Madison at Spivey field on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, so Coach Joe Bean said Monday night.

Last Friday the cadets pulled a surprise by holding a heavier and stronger Newman High school team to a 6-to-2 score in Newnan. Coach Bean is pushing his boys hard for Thursday's game and hopes to be returned the victor.

MUNN, LEWIS TO MEET HERE NOVEMBER 29

John Contos, the wrestling matchmaker, yesterday was engaged in calling down Hellenic wrath upon the rather large head of Ed "Strangler" Lewis, who knows few superiors in the art of applying and breaking holds that are a part and parcel of the mat game.

Contos' grievance against Lewis grew out of the latter's demand for 41 per cent of the gross gate, if he meets Wayne "Big Munn" in the feature of the wrestling program at the city auditorium the night of November 29.

"It costs too much," Contos explained as he read about the telegram from Lewis signifying that he is willing to tackle Munn again, but only if his financial demands are met and the officials in connection with the match see that Munn abides by the few rules and regulations that govern mat games.

While Contos is sparing with Lewis in an endeavor to secure a reduction in his demands it is entirely likely that the Atlanta fans will be treated to the exciting spectacle of a Lewis-Munn bout, regardless of what it may cost the matchmaker.

For Contos discovered at his last show that Atlantans turn out for wrestling matches, only if top-notch stars of the game are on the card.

Sunday School Basketball

Preparations for the opening of the season of the Sunday School Athletic association will be made at a meeting Tuesday night. Any church team desiring to enter a basketball team should by all means have a representative present at 7:30 o'clock on the fourth floor of the Atlanta Athletic club.

Already 14 teams have entered the association, the last one being Capital Avenue Baptist, which was entered in the American league. However, if there are any teams wishing to join the association arrangements will be made to take care of them. The schedule committee will report and all preparations will be made to open December 5, Sam Glasman and Roy Mundorff will have charge of the officiating.

Why Bring That Up?

The Boston Red Sox have picked a new training camp. But what the fans want is for them to pick a new place in the league.

That's Easy.

A lot of men that go hunting kill nothing but time.

Chattanooga Next on List For Petrels

Birds Begin Work for Turkey Day Clash in Chattanooga.

BY FRED McEACHIN.

With the Hawks Tech came a thing of the past and every man on the squad in good shape. Coach Harry Robertson sent his Oglethorpe Petrels through their initial training session of the week Monday in preparation for the coming battle with the University of Chattanooga in the Tennessee city, which takes place Thanksgiving day.

In the workout Monday Robertson put his charges through a rather hard afternoon. Special attention was paid to the punting department, in which the Birds appeared to be particularly weak in their game against T. H. Robertson has hopes of developing a kicker before this week's clash and had several men showing their stuff with the oval.

Tough Foes.

The Moccasins are always one of the toughest assignments on the Petrel card and the local boys will journey to the neighboring state with the intentions of returning home with the bacon. In their meeting last year the Chattanooga proved too strong for Oglethorpe and consequently will be out for revenge over their strong rivals who have chalked up an enviable record this year.

If the Petrels put up the same fight against their next opponents as they did against the Jackets the outcome of the game should not be in doubt. They seem to have found themselves in the last engagement and should be in for a series of wins to offset the poor showing made during the first half of their schedule.

A scrimmage will probably be held this afternoon with the varsity crew working against Coach Chestnut's squad of freshmen. Another workout devoid of any of the heavy work will probably follow on Wednesday before entraining for Chattanooga that night. A large crowd of Oglethorpe supporters will accompany the team on the trip.

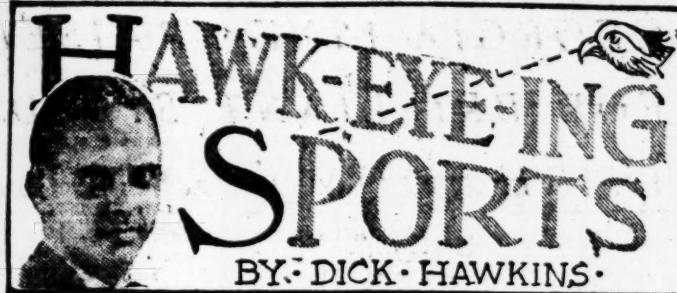

Girl Basketeers Play 2nd Round

Three close games featured the second round of the Y. C. A. A. girls' basketball league Monday night. Western Heights displayed a well-timed attack to defeat the Central Presbyterians, 13 to 9. Pattillo Memorial had things a bit easier in winning from the Avondale girls, 14 to 4, while the Central Baptists downed the St. Luke girls 10 to 3 in an exciting game.

Yale Paper Asks Coaches Be on Faculty

New Haven, Conn., November 21.—(P.) The Yale News, published by undergraduates urged today that future football coaches be given a place on the faculty, in the gymnasium or with the university health department which will give them year-round recognition and at the same time reduce professional element to a minimum.

The News offers its plan as a substitute for the suggestion that the Alumni Weekly that perhaps an unpaid coaching system would prove better than the present system.

Did you ever see a man hole out a spoon shot from a sand trap to set a course record at Oakmont?

We nuther. But William Haines did that very thing at the Grand this week in his picture entitled "Spring Fever," which deals with golf and other things. The funny part of it is that the photograph is so darned clever that you almost believe the fool thing before you are through.

Just why they chose "Oakmont" as the name of the country club in the picture is a mystery, because Oakmont traps will not permit of spoon shots, but their reason for selecting William Haines to play the blythe Irishman is very evident.

William Haines, who happens to be Jack Kelly in this picture, not only plays his love scenes like a veteran, but his golf swing is more than passable. His performance was even more convincing than it was as the kid pitcher in "Slide, Kelly, Slide."

Probably the most convincing part of the whole picture was the acting of George Fawcett when he discovered that Kelly, one of his lowly employees, can correct a bad slice which has been bothering the manufacturer for some time.

That is the beginning of a fast friendship between manager and employee which ends in an extended vacation at the links for Kelly. His ability with the sticks wins him a club championship and a very pretty girl who is named Joan Crawford in real life and Allie Monte in real life.

Telling the detail of the picture would be telling tales out of the show, but allow us to advise a trip to Loew's Grand theater if you want to see a good sport picture which brings several laughs along with a few thrills only found in a heated match on the links.

Our purpose in visiting the Grand was to see the golf picture advertised, but we arrived a bit too early and were glad for our mistake.

When we entered the theater Jan Garber, a diminutive gentleman with a heap of personality, was out front with his orchestra, and let us say that it is one more orchestra. Most of these instrumental numbers on the vaudeville stage give us a decided pain but if we came to scoff we stayed to join the applause.

There's a blond chap who plays the banjo and bears a very Irish name like Muldooney or Kilkenny or something, and sings "Broken-Hearted." There's another gentleman on the bill who makes a specialty of singing and the Irishman of the Jan Garber outfit takes a lot of applause from the singing gentleman.

Jan also has another fat gentleman in his gang who plays the cornet and sings a bit. He's good, too. In fact, it's a darn good act in front of a darn good picture.

U. of S. C. Plays W-L, FLORIDA IN HARD TILT CHICAGO IN 1928 THANKSGIVING

Columbia, S. C., November 21.—(P.) The University of South Carolina football team has signed a contract to meet the University of Chicago Maroons at Stagg field, Chicago, on September 29, next year. It was announced here tonight. The game will be the Gamecocks' first football match north of the Mason and Dixon line.

Georgia Holds High School Team Scrimmage On First Day

Team Looks Good in Workout Preparing for Alabama Classic.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., November 21.—With the Thanksgiving game with Alabama looming in the immediate foreground, the Georgia Bulldogs put in their best afternoon of the year on Sandford field Monday. A hard-fought scrimmage with the freshmen and the Red Devils ensued, in which the varsity displayed more power than at any previous practice of this season. This was the last scrimmage for the Georgians before they meet the Crimson Tide in Birmingham Thursday. A light workout will constitute the day's menu Tuesday afternoon before the team leaves for the Alabama city early Wednesday morning.

Hard Work Over.

Active preparation for the Thanksgiving game has lasted after two weeks of hard training. The Bulldogs have been practicing against Alabama players since before the Florida game and now feel themselves ready for the game with their ancient foe.

Monday afternoon saw the Bulldogs run through the freshman team with accustomed regularity on the offense and show their best defense in many a month. The Red Devils, who have been called one of the best scrub teams anywhere, were unable to gain an inch by any line of attack against the varsity line. The defensive play which the first eleven put up against them Monday would be most heartening to any Georgia supporter.

Boy Estes proved in the early week scrimmage that he is one of the best all-around halfbacks the Bulldogs have had in years. Estes, who is considered by many to be Georgia's greatest offensive weapon with the possible exception of McCrary, has played football for the past few weeks that could be called nothing short of great. With his running, passing and punting, he has added much to the heavy scores that the Red and Black has run up against all opponents. It will be remembered that he scored the first touchdown against Yale, which put the Georgians into the lead after five minutes of play. Estes' home is in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Squad in Fine Shape.

The Georgia squad is in excellent condition. All regular players will be ready for the go against Alabama, with the possible exception of Bobby Hooks, whose broken hand, sustained in the Florida game, still presents a problem. Bobby was in Atlanta Monday to receive judgment as to whether he would be in action against the Tide.

'No Liquor' For Tulane-L.S.U. Tilt

New Orleans, November 21.—The football game between Louisiana State University and Tulane at Baton Rouge Thanksgiving day will be witnessed by O. D. Jackson, prohibition administrator of this district and a squad of dry agents with instructions to arrest hip-pocket violators of the Volstead act.

In making this announcement today Mr. Jackson said the action would be taken in compliance with a request by President T. W. Atkinson, of L. S. U., for additional protection against bootleggers at the game.

PILES

Go Quickly Without Cutting or Using Messy Salves.

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonard tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Jacobs' drug stores today. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and must do the same for you or money back.—(adv.)

JOKER IS GIVEN CREDIT FOR RULES ON MARITAL BLISS

East Orange, N. J., November 21. (AP)—The story of one ultra-modern couple's idea of marriage and the rules necessary to insure conjugal happiness were exploded today when Miss Dorothy La Verne Bacher, whose alleged "ten commandments" were given wide publicity, indignantly laid the affair to a practical joker.

The dialogue, which among other things, forbade previous mates, and called for prayers each night "on bended knee," were termed ridiculous by Miss Bacher. Her engagement to Harold K. Brock, of Everett, Mass., was announced today.

The girl was worried over what the prospective bridegroom would think of the incident. Her mother, Mrs. G. E. Bacher, said she was "shocked."

Mrs. Bacher said someone at a recent party jokingly suggested the ten commandments.

Indian Wedding Held on Banks Of Macon River

Macon, Ga., November 21.—(AP)—There was a wedding of real American royalty on the banks of the Ocmulgee river here Sunday morning. With dozens of prominent Indians from many states looking on, Lee-Nah Cheivikere, of a North Carolina Choctaw tribe, and Steve Mizuel, a Wyoming Sioux, pledged their troth in the fashion that the red man has followed since before the days of Columbus.

The Indians were for the greater part graduates of Carlisle university, but despite civilization they remain full of wiles and mischief, newspapermen learned to their sorrow Monday. They gathered in the river meadows and Saturday and announced that the ceremony would begin at 11 o'clock Monday morning—instead, it was performed early Sunday while most of Macon was still sleeping or preparing for church.

In consequence chagrined newspaper and news reel photographers who had arrived on the scene early Monday morning met the last of the Indians driving from the encampment in their expensive cars. Remaining on the river bank, their camp site was a handful of Romany gypsies, but not an Indian could be found. Hundreds of Macon people flocked to the scene, only to be disappointed.

Most of the gypsies viewed the Indian ceremony, and they were voluble in describing the beauty of the ritual and the grace of the dancers. The Indian ceremony is performed by the fathers of the bride and groom, and a regular license was obtained, but Indians are exempted from the civil marriage required of whites.

The bride is a near relative of Chief Tonghawk, Choctaw leader and oil magnate of Ardmore, Okla. As his personal representative of the wedding, the chief sent H. K. Carls, graduate and 32nd degree Mason; the Seminoles sent George Nounahoo, heavyweight boxer of Tampa, Fla. Other tribes were represented also.

VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT FOUND TO BE J. Q. ADAMS

Identity of the body of a man who was brought Sunday night to Grady hospital after he had been found unconscious and suffering from a fatal skull fracture on Peachtree street near Houston street, was established Monday morning at the Ed Bond & Condon Co. undertaking parlors as John Quincy Adams, according to the undertakers.

The only clue to the man's identity was a card in one of his pockets, bearing the name Edwards & Son, photographers, of 130-A Peachtree street. The man died Monday morning. The undertaker learned that he had been at Edwards & Son.

AKINS COMPANY WILL OPEN TODAY

The Akins Furniture company, headed by Byron Akins, widely known Atlanta furniture man, will open its doors to the public this morning at 9 o'clock at 202 Peachtree street as the latest addition to Atlanta's downtown shopping section.

The company, which has been making elaborate plans for its opening for the past several weeks, will carry a comprehensive stock of the latest creations in home furnishings. The store is located on the west side of Peachtree street near Baker street, and is one of a number of business establishments that have located in the neighborhood in the recent past.

Byron Akins, who for a number of years has been connected with the most prominent furniture stores in this city and section, is regarded as an expert in all matters pertaining to furnishing homes.

"It will be our policy to handle a quality line of merchandise, catering to those who appreciate beauty in home furnishings, yet selling at a price that will appeal to the popular purse," Mr. Akins said Monday.

"Prior to the announcement of our opening, I spent several weeks in Chicago and Grand Rapids selecting merchandise that represents the newest and most artistic creations for the modern home. This merchandise will be on display at our new store beginning tomorrow, and we have surrounded ourselves with a sales force thoroughly qualified to render the service the public expects in an up-to-date establishment."

'DEATH CAR' PILOT SURRENDERS SELF

E. E. Smith, of Dunwoody, Ga., driver of the machine which Sunday night struck and almost instantly killed Mrs. Vinie Robertson, 47, of 85 DeForest avenue, surrendered today morning to County Policeman Charlie Cook as the latter was directing traffic at Peachtree road and Piedmont avenue.

The accident in which Mrs. Robertson was fatally injured occurred on Howell Mill road near Eighth street, the wheels of the machine passing over her body, crushing her skull. She died en route to Grady hospital in the automobile of J. M. Harts, of 60 Ridgeway avenue, a passerby.

Smith told the officer that he and Clifford Phillips were riding at a rate of speed of not more than 20 miles an hour when they saw Mrs. Robertson crossing the street ahead of them in company with Mrs. W. E. Queen, of Howell Mill road, near the Brown Memorial Methodist church.

He applied his brakes, he said, and they stepped back, apparently out of the way. The brakes were then released and the car started ahead when Mrs. Robertson stepped directly in the path of the machine, he said.

The automobile was brought to a stop immediately before the machine had passed completely over her body and she was lying beneath the car when the machine was completely stopped, Smith said.

Smith said that he waited at the scene of the accident for some time, then went home. Monday morning he learned that Mrs. Robertson had succumbed and surrendered.

Smith's bond was fixed at $1,000, which was posted early Monday night and he was released.

STORES ENTERED, CLOTHING STOLEN IN LOCAL THEFTS

Heavy bedclothing and apparel stolen from Atlanta homes, according to police reports Monday, indicate the approach of winter. Sheets, blankets, and an expensive rug were stolen from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Armstrong, 306 Ponce de Leon avenue. Dresses and other clothing were stolen from Mrs. S. Harris, 479 Jackson street.

No loot was obtained by burglars who entered the A. & P. store at 780 Highland avenue, but $75 was obtained from another A. & P. store at 329 South Pryor street. The same burglars looted $4 from Cooley Brothers store at 327 South Pryor street, next door.

ROMAN CATHOLIC MISSION TARGET OF CHINESE FIRE

Washington, November 21.—(AP)—The landing force from the United States gunboat Asheville, which went ashore at Yeung-kong, Kwangtung province, China, on November 18, reported that a few shots had been fired at the Roman Catholic mission, but that the disturbance in the city had been slight. Naval dispatches today said the Presbyterian missions, the largest in the city, was not attacked. There are about ten Americans in Yeung-kong.

TROLLINGER CASE WITNESS QUIZZED

Information which may prove valuable to the state in the trial of Thomas Trollinger, charged with the murders of Millard Allen and a negro, on the Simpson road "death farm," was obtained Monday by Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson and Police Lieutenant J. M. Carroll from Miss Nina Evitt.

Miss Evitt gave the officials a lengthy statement shortly after the trial of Trollinger, which was scheduled for Monday morning, was postponed on account of the absence of T. M. Robinson, a star state witness. She appeared in court as a witness for the defense although the state is said to have been seeking her for approximately three weeks.

Postponement was made at the request of Assistant Solicitor Hudson, who said that an important witness had failed to respond to the call of his name, but that he expected to have the missing witness in court today.

Lee B. Gillebeau, who represents Trollinger, told the court that he was ready for trial and eager to go into the "testimony." He urged that the trial be as speedy as possible in order to get his client "free," as he has been incarcerated in the common jail for several weeks.

The prosecution declined to state which indictment Trollinger would face this morning, however, it is believed that Trollinger will be placed on trial on the charge of murdering Owen Caruthers, negro, whose body was found in a corn field on the "death farm" on Simpson road.

Allen was shot to death by Trollinger on October 23 as the former is said to have been advancing on the latter with a drawn knife. The defendant was exonerated in municipal court following a hearing on a murder warrant charging him with the murder of Allen. Miss Evitt was one of the principal witnesses introduced by the state and declared that Allen had attacked her and that he also advanced upon Trollinger who stepped in to protect her. The warrant was dismissed.

MRS. W. M. JONES, 64, IS LAID TO FINAL REST

Funeral services for Mrs. W. M. Jones, 64, a pioneer resident of College Park, who died Sunday at her home, 320 East Columbia avenue, were held Monday afternoon from the First Christian church. The Rev. S. P. Miller and Rev. C. R. Stauffer officiated and interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Jones is survived by her husband; a daughter, four sisters and three brothers. T. C. Bazemore company was in charge of arrangements.

Country Church Is Still Active, Minister Reports

Cartersville, Ga., November 21.—(Special).—The day of the country church is far from spent if the experience of Rev. H. C. Cowart, well-known Baptist minister is to be taken as an example.

He is now serving five country churches, three of them in Bartow county and two in Gordon county. He has been serving some of these churches for the past 10 years and says he has not yet noted an appreciable decrease in membership, or in church attendance. In fact, he says, practically all of his churches are growing, and their contributions for church expenses and the benevolences fostered by his denomination are right in line with those of the city and town churches, the records show.

There has been one change over the old days, however. He no longer drives in a buggy to his appointments but has an automobile and it was presented to him by two of his Gordon county churches.

There is a fine spirit of optimism abroad in the country districts, at this time, says Rev. Cowart.

Held in Rum Charge. If Alertox Fails in High Blood Pressure Call In A Doctor

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, more often caused by over-eating and faulty elimination, and sometimes by mental strain. In either case, this new and pleasant-to-take preparation known as "Alertox," through a process of elimination, not only thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities, but tends to reduce the pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the alimentary tract, that excess water content in the blood which ordinarily is secreted through the sweat glands, sent after the first dose or two of Alertox you will note a decided improvement, not only in reducing blood pressure, but also in your general health, because Alertox is guaranteed to remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert, mentally and physically.

Alertox also alkalizes the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Get a bottle from your druggist, and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose, get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alertox, send direct by Crystal Carbonic Laboratories, Dept. 16, Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price, 60c.—(adv.)

Another great day in PIERCE-ARROW history

EVEN to those already accustomed to Pierce-Arrow standards the new 81—exhibited for the first time last week—was a real sensation. It was the embodiment of a new spirit in fine motor car building.

With its European interpretation of Pierce-Arrow ideals, its marked air of exclusiveness and refinement, we believe no other new motor car model ever warmed its way into the hearts of its beholders more quickly or more completely than did this one. Not even a Pierce-Arrow!

The marriage service was performed by Dr. W. H. Faust of the Gordon Street Baptist church, in the presence of the immediate family and a few intimate friends.

To the strains of the Wedding March, from Lohengrin, the bridal pair entered the living room and stood before an improvised altar of growing ferns, palms and graceful vines, interspersed with white and yellow chrysanthemums and fragrant roses of white and pink.

The bride, who is of striking brunette coloring, was crowned in a most becoming model of large flat crepe, of severely simple lines, with inverted bands of self material as its sole trimming. She wore a shoulder bouquet of valley lilies and sweetest roses.

The only attendants were H. L. Hayes, who acted as best man, and Mrs. E. L. Willoughby, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor. Mrs. Willoughby's gown was of transparent

Face Peeler Reveals Beauty of Youth

If your skin beauty is marred by freckles, blackheads, liver spots, parched or flaky skin, peel them off with pure mercurochrome. Procure an ounce at any drug store and use as directed. It works like magic. In a few days the whole surface is gently removed, and with it go pimples, blackheads, large pores, etc. The loveliness of the girlish skin beneath is revealed, soft, smooth, and delicately tinted. Mercurochrome brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and age signs, use as face lotion 1 ounce powdered kaolin and 1 half pint witch hazel. (Safe.)

THE CONNOISSEUR

There is hardly any justice, Mr. Van de View believes, in the wives of femininity and all that it achieves. For he's bought enough insurance to submerge an ocean liner. All because each lady salesman made him think that hers was finer.

"But I have abundant policies," he patiently insisted, to the first engaging lady who discreetly had him listed. But her arguments were clever and her frock was better still—'Twas, after all, the sheerest tweed made him sign against his will.

The second one looked at him and, smiling, said demurely—He might already have one, but he'd take another surely. Agreeing with her perfectly, and saying "Yes, indeed," He complimented her as well upon her choice of tweed.

By the time the third assailed him he had no resistance left. And of argument and opposition clearly was bereft. She might even have sold him all the European debt. For the dress that she was wearing—'twas a tailored wool georgette.

I Have Said in My Heart

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON

In a corridor of one of the big hotels yesterday afternoon I saw in front of me three men. They were all at least 50 years of age. They were well dressed and well groomed, evidently solid business men; men who were well aware of their good looks and standing in society.

Every man would have been called more than the average in good looks. Every man, I knew by his quick glances from time to time at the women that got on the car, was perfectly aware that he still was in the running—and he was right.

Any woman who saw them, if she had been asked, would have said that she admired the appearance of each and all of those men.

But—not one of those men was overfat, not one of them that was not more or less bald, not one of them that did not have sagging muscles in his face and "dew lap" underneath his chin.

Not one of them that did not have a complexion that showed the wear and tear of many frost-bitten winters as well as blistering summers. And yet they were, in the common acceptance of the term, good looking men who would command attention anywhere.

According to the accepted masculine standard they were above the average.

Let us take a woman of over 50.

Can she be fat and still receive the slightest attention from a male bled unless he is tied to her by the conventions of marriage or near relationship of blood? And the woman with wrinkles and dew lap—what man ever gives her the second look?

She may be as brilliant as Mme. de Staël, but she will hardly get a chance to stage a demonstration from her own lips if there are even two chins below them.

Time is no greater enemy of woman than of man. In fact, a woman of 50 today is almost always better looking than a man of the same age. Her skin is better, her muscles are firmer, her form is not so flabby. But she must pass by higher standards. If she does not look better than a man of the same class and age she will stand a pretty hard show of receiving any attention from her masculine acquaintances.

The other day in New York a woman delivered a talk before a woman's club. She had something to say and she said it well enough to focus the interest of every woman in the audience. When she finished and returned to sit beside the only man in the audience he said to her—"your message was splendid" nor "you have made a wonderful success of your life."

What he did say was, "And the nice part of it all is that with all your hard work you have not lost your beauty."

No wonder we spend billions of dollars each year on cosmetics and beautifiers.

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Cauliflower.

Cauliflower is really a flower—the flower of an annual variety of cabbage. It is the only important example of a flower used as a vegetable.

While cauliflower belongs to the cabbage family, it is not so high in vitamin B and C, nor in mineral elements, as cabbage, for great amounts of vitamins are found in great amounts in green leaves rather than in flowers and roots.

In caloric value cauliflower is practically the same as cabbage—11 1/2 ounces to the 100 C, while cabbage is 13 ounces to 100 C.

Have cauliflower often if you like.

Boils.

W. writes that she has been having some boils, and the thing that is worrying her is that some of the boils don't come to a head and discharge, and she has heard that this pus will be dammed up in her system!

This damming up in the system of running matter is an untruth. W. It is one of the hardest things to eradicate from the midst of the body, that running sores of any kind cleanse the system of impurities and you mustn't heat them up for that reason; that all the healing must come from purifying the blood. While it is true that "purifying the blood" is necessary and every effort must be made to improve the general health, you must also do all you can to aid the recovery from the outside as well, for this running stuff is not impurities from the blood, but material that is made right on the spot from the action of the germs and the killed-off white blood cells (and the blood serum) that have tried to kill the bacteria and hadn't succeeded.

Quite frequently those who have a series of boils and carbuncles are either diabetic or have a higher sugar content of the blood than normal, or are in a lowered state of resistance from some other disease. And quite frequently they have points of infection in the body which are supplying the germs.

We have an article on "Boils and Carbuncles" which gives something of the treatment, but you must have a thorough physical examination, too, to see what is lowering your

Why be Fat?

When so many people, all about you, know an easy, pleasant way to reduce.

In every circle you enter now, slenderness prevails. Excess fat is the exception. New health and vitality has come with this reduction. Ask anybody who has found the way, and he or she will urge you to adopt it.

This change has not been brought about by abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. Research men discovered, some two decades ago, a cause of excess fat. It lies in a fault in nutrition which calls for an extra supply of some factors.

The help they suggested was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Now people have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everyone knows people who can tell them what this method does.

At one time people feared Marmola—the results were so amazing. Now every box contains the formula, also all scientific reasons for the good results. And fear has been abolished.

Used Marmola take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. They gain at the same time new vitality and health. And they know exactly why.

Go try Marmola. Do not suffer any longer the blights of over-weight. And do not think that reduction means starvation. Try what people have for 20 years been using with such results. You owe that to all who love you.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS. John Arden, returning to his room at the Palace hotel, London, in the early hours of the morning, breaks his key in the lock and is given a room in a luxurious suite by the night watchman, who assures him that the rooms are unoccupied. He is about to retire when he hears the door open and close and then a woman's voice.

INSTALLMENT II. AN EVIL FACE.

"O, thank heaven!" came the excited exclamation. "We are safe at last!"

At that instant Arden was standing in the angle of the two corridors. Obviously he was not in a costume when he might dare to encounter an unknown lady. Indeed, an apology would have called for remarkable tact, for the lady even one of his oldest friends in present conditions what he expected was that the stranger would scream shrilly and drop in a faint. The screen, offered the only available refuge, he thought. He sprang behind it, and pulled one wing to a more accurate angle in case any of the people now appearing through the half-glazed door should make for one of the bathrooms.

This maneuver, adopted solely as a protective measure, had an unforeseen advantage: it could peer through the enlarged slit of the screen.

The first person to enter was a slender, graceful girl, wearing a blue silk dress with a long coat of a darker shade lined with the same material as the costume. Her hair matched the lighter blue, and her stockings and shoes were of a fawn tint which blended admirably with her attire. She was smiling, and her eyes, which were of a deep blue, were looking at Arden. The girl's companion, a woman twice her age, was enough in itself to set his veins in a tumult.

"Why is the corridor lighted?" was the sharp demand. "You did not touch any switch when you came in, did you, Emma?"

"No, I don't think so. But I hardly know what I am doing," was the breathless answer. "I have looked everywhere. If I challenge any one run out and ring for the lift."

Arden, quick, with an assurance which bespoke rapid judgment and a determined will, the older woman threw wide the door of Arden's room and turned on the light. The hapless young man behind the screen flinched to a violent perspiration. Reason flared for an instant. Any explanation would come from the girl's lips. Even an appeal to Smith, which would bring out his story, would fall on doubting ears. The night watchman must touch for his having been given a bed in this many-roomed suite, but what right had he to go prowling about during the dead hours in garments somewhat less than airy—almost as thin, in fact, as his host's excuses?

Then, just as a sort of anger at this strange predicament brought back his normal wits, a minor miracle happened.

"There is no one here," snapped the lady, putting out the light and closing the door. "Don't go ahead, Emma! Wait till I have looked everywhere. If I challenge any one run out and ring for the lift."

Instantly Arden knew why he had been reprieved. By chance, his clothes and linen were piled on a chair close to the head of the bed on the far side, while the counterpane, blanket and upper sheets were lapped neatly in readiness to be pulled down. In effect, there was no sign of occupancy.

Examination of the opposite room necessarily yielded the same result. Then followed a scrutiny of the living rooms, the two main bedrooms and the bathrooms. By this time the searcher was tiring. She may have felt, too, that she was behaving rather foolishly. At one point she bent close to the screen twice during her swift progress through the flat, but never thought of looking behind it. Probably a screen was a trifle too obvious. Nor did she fail to glance into the remaining rooms, a fact which might, however, be accounted for by a fit of sobbing which seemed to have seized "Emma" the moment that the excited young woman entered the other principal bedroom—that on the park side which Arden himself had left unseen.

"Heterical little fool!" muttered the lady in the passage. "If I don't handle her firmly she may spoil everything!"

The sotto voce comment was meant for no ears save her own. The words were significant, however, and their tone venomous. Nevertheless, Arden would have thought better of her if she had been equally emphatic when she rushed after the girl, but her attitude became instantly one of sympathy and friendly remonstrance.

"My dear child," she cried, "what has gone wrong now? What has that that old man should have fainted, or died, or whatever he did before we had exchanged a dozen words with him as to the thing that really mattered?"

"Oh, Mrs. Sinclair, I am sure we ought to have sought help. He was ill—perhaps, as you say, dying—and it was careless on our part to snatch at those papers and run off like thieves!"

Every syllable of this protest reached Arden clearly. It seemed to stir Mrs. Sinclair to a cold fury.

"It is horribly unfair and even wicked of you to say such things," she said, and the hidden listener was under no delusion as to the constraint she was imposing on herself to prevent an outburst more in tune with her earlier comment when she heard the girl and her companion. He is, or was, the meanest creature on earth."

"Do you think, then, he is dead?" "I don't care what has happened to him. If he is dead all the better for us and for everybody else who had anything to do with him. Come, now, Emma! Don't try to be beyond endurance. I'll myself, perhaps, you once me thanks, not thanks, for tonight's work. Listen, now—undress, and get quietly into bed. I'll give you some bromide, and take some myself. After a good night's sleep you'll be reasonable, and not blurt out the first silly words that come to your lips. How often, for instance, have I warned you today that I am not Mrs. Sinclair here, but Mrs. Forbes, and that you are my niece—my brother's daughter? Do, please, get that into your head. Yes, that's right and sensible. I'll just put out the lights and come back to you."

To John Arden, intent now on every syllable, it seemed that Emma's agitation subsided from sheer weariness rather than any sense of relief induced by her so-called aunt's cynical references to some elderly peer recently deceased. Mrs. Sinclair, who preferred to be known as Mrs. Forbes, came out into the corridor after the tinkling of a glass and the gurgling of water heralded the joint dose of bromide, and it was painfully evident that she, at any rate, needed a sedative, though she was a strongly-built woman and quite good looking. She must even have been strikingly handsome in youth, but the passing years had not made her features more feminine—rather had she hardened into a calculating machine, with a steely glint in her eyes when the brain behind them was not controlling their expression, which now somehow suggested to her hidden critic a Medusa of the twentieth century.

Arden, of course, was predisposed against her. He had seen her in an unguarded moment before she rejoined her companion, and saw her now as she reappeared through the open door; on both occasions he discovered something evil, not to say demonic, in her face.

Yet none could deny that she was a woman of action. In a few seconds she had turned off all exterior lights and was back in the bedroom behind a closed door. Arden, on his part, did not hesitate a fraction of a second as to what he should do. On stealthy feet he crept along the corridor, reached his room, dressed in half a minute, and was outside Suite F just as quickly as care in avoiding the noise of snapping locks demanded.

Arden, of course, was predisposed against her. He had seen her in an unguarded moment before she rejoined her companion, and saw her now as she reappeared through the open door; on both occasions he discovered something evil, not to say demonic, in her face.

CURB REACTIONARY AFTER ADVANCES

New York, November 21.—(AP)—The curb market turned reactionary in the closing period today after an early advance which carried several mispriced stocks into new high ground. Advances of 1 to 2 points in a number of instances were converted into losses.

That recent accumulation of some of the high-priced stocks has materially reduced the floating supply was evidenced by sharp advances scored by Great Lakes Dredge and Dock, which shot up nearly 20 points to a new high, and Saurley Grocery and Pro for & Gamble. Amoskeag jumped 13 points to 105 1/2, the first time this year it has sold above 100.

Aluminum shares were bought heavily, new tops being reached by Aluminum and Aluminum Company of America, the latter rising more than 11 points.

The late selling was particularly heavy in the oil group. Vacuum fell heavy for a net loss of 1 1/2 after an advance of as much, and Humble retreated following an early gain. Ohio Oil closed above its previous high, but at a point under the day's peak.

Most of the utilities were heavy from the outset, although Penn-Ohio Edison sold above 108 for the first time. Midwest Utilities American Power & Light and Empire Power reflected profit-taking.

Miscellaneous issues which reached new high ground before reacting included Atlas Plywood, Trucon Steel, Fanteel Products, Deere & Co., Bancitaly and the new common and preferred issues of United Basic. This selling was reflected in the day's peak.

Niles-Renard, Ohio Brass, Pender Grocers "A" and "B," American Tilling Mills, Imperial Tobacco and Tulewice were among the numerous soft spots.

General Motors failed to make good the "bull" bias that was widely circulated about that stock last week, falling back more than 3 points to 128 3/4.

Hupp and Packard, which have been mentioned in merger reports, advanced new peak prices, the former climbing nearly 5 points to 32 1/2. Hudson also dropped more than 3 points to 70 1/8 and Chrysler, Mack Trucks, Nash, Pierce Arrow preferred yielded a point or more.

Although directors of DuPont declared extra dividends of $4.25 and raised the regular annual rate from $8 to $10, the stock broke 7 points to 318 on the traditional "selling on the good news." Losses of 3 to 8 points were recorded by Arnold Constable, Atlantic Refining, Case Threshing, Commercial Solvents, Hoe & Co., International Harvester, Manhattan Electric Supply and National Supply.

Among the many issues to reach new high ground, most of them in the morning trading, were Brooklyn Edison, United States Realty, Shubert, Union Pacific, Erie common and a number of other active issues declined a point or two.

Outside of the rally in cotton, which was based on the bullish government ginning report, there was little of interest in the commodity markets. Wheat and corn futures advanced slightly, but most of the other grains showed small declines. Coffee and sugar quotations held steady.

Spanish and Japanese currencies were reactionary, but most of the other leading foreign exchanges gained ground. The increase in the premium on the Canadian dollar resulted in the further shipment of gold to Montreal. Sterling held firm around the year high of $4.87 5/8 for demand bills.

Substantial setback and price are easily reduced to a more reasonable basis, the trend is gradually downward and it is not likely that another sell-off will last for some time. It would be much better if the market adjusted itself to a lower level before the meeting of congress. Prices would then be stock proof, at least at the mercy of penny politics.

STOCK OPINIONS.
Fenner & Beane. The market closed reactionary but will probably go somewhat higher before the meeting of congress. It is only temporary.

P. F. Cooke. The marketing of foreign securities has been closely supervised this year, and unless there is a change in policy, things will not be much better. The market is still higher than it should be, and unless there is a change in policy, things will not be much better.

F. B. Keech. We look for a generally rising and still higher market this week. Barring reactions following either too rapid or over extended advances, we expect a steady upward movement. The market is still higher than it should be, and unless there is a change in policy, things will not be much better.

James Russell & Co. As the opening date of congress approaches, the legislative session is entering a period of a bullish influence on the stock market.

New York, November 21.—(AP)—Operators for the rise, aided by a series of favorable trade developments and a brisk rally of nearly $3 a bale in cotton futures, started the market up prices from the opening of the stock market, but heavy selling developed among the standard industrial shares during the afternoon, checking the rise and leaving final quotations irregularly lower. More than 25 issues, including a number of copper shares, were generally expected to continue easy until around the end of the year. Increases were announced during the day in the prices of brass and export copper. From steel centers also came unofficial reports of an order increase in steel prices. Copper shares were in fairly good demand.

Anaconda, Kennecott and Calumet & Hecla, all rose, the latter advancing more than 2 points to 142, but Crucible, Republic and Youngstown recorded moderate declines.

General Motors failed to make good the "bull" bias that was widely circulated about that stock last week, falling back more than 3 points to 128 3/4.
